Attempted Sensational Robbery Occurs Between Pitcairn And Greensburg

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Two bandits who attempted to hold up the Pennsylvania Railroad's Keystone express, bound from New York to St. Louis, near here early today, were overpowered and arrested when one bandit's gun jammed as he started to shoot their way to freedom.

The attempted robbery occurred between Greensburg and Pitcairn. Police said the bandits gave their names as W. F. Hevner, 21, of Tyrone, and L. D. Rhodes, 25, Johnstown.

Taken before Magistrate George England of police court for a preliminary hearing, the two men were ordered held for Westmoreland county authorities.

Recently Released.

Authorities said Hevner only recently was released from the state reformatory at Huntingdon. He had in his possession a bag given inmates of the Huntingdon institution and a bank book issued by a Tyrone, Pa., institution, when arrested.

Hevner was armed but his companion was not. As the train pulled out of Greensburg, 40 miles east of Pittsburgh, the bandits walked through the smoking car, their revolver drawn, and ordered passengers to surrender their valuables.

While the bandits were search-

Sees Attention Being Given To Bright Pupils

Dr. C. C. Green Believes They Will Get Attention Of Educators In Future

SCHOOL HEAD TALKS TO COUNTY TEACHERS

Deplores Some Of Present Day Tendencies On Part Of Students

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the public schools of New Castle, in his address last night at the Elk's home to the members of the High School Teachers Association of Lawrence county, declared for a sound scholarship in the high schools; his belief in the fundimentals of education, such as reading, writing, solving of problems; against the development of "Athleticphobia" and for the control of school athletics by the school authorities; the development of a greater appreciation on the part of the public of the progressive moves made educationally and said that the time was coming when there would be special attention paid to the brighter students, now held back and slowed up by the average students.

The meeting and banquet of the association was attended by forty-eight teachers of the high schools of the county, their wives and special guests and was a decidedly successful event, which is to be followed by other events of similar character from time to time.

Colton Presides

H. J. Colton, president of the association, presided in an able manner and the evening was opened with prayer by John C. Syling, county superintendent of schools, who also later made a short address, calling attention of the high school instructors to certain problems and activities that are underway or will be undertaken.

The session was livened by pep singing led by Joseph Martin assisted by Raymond Walter and with Robert Ault and William Hill presiding at the piano. This was one of the very enjoyable features of the evening.

Following an elaborate course dinner, H. J. Colton, the presiding officer of the affair, called attention to the coming literary contests and called a meeting of the principals after the evening meeting to arrange a schedule for these contests. He announced that there would be no elimination contests this year but the county championship would be determined by a system of points given at the time of the contests.

Syling Speaks

John C. Syling, county superintendent of schools, was then called upon and urged the principals to prepare for the annual national contest on the constitution.

He suggested that this contest be made an English reqlirement of all pupils of the respective schools. Each school will conduct its own elimination contest, and the winners in the various schools will

McCleary Avenue Home Is Burned; Loss About $5,000

Residence Of A. J. Gavroy Completely Destroyed By Fire Wednesday

ADJOINING HOME DAMAGED SOME

Two Children In Home At Time Of Fire Are Rescued By Neighbors

Two story frame home of Andrew J. Gavroy, 602 McCleary avenue, was completely destroyed with all its contents Wednesday afternoon about 3 o'clock by a fire, the cause of which is not known.

The loss is estimated at $5000, divided about equally between the property and the housefurnishings. The loss is probably covered to a considerable extent by insurance.

Lester, aged 8, and Norman, aged 4, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gavroy, according to neighbors, were in the home when the fire broke out and were taken out in safety through the efforts of neighbors.

The adjoining property of E. Robinson, 604 McCleary avenue, was actually smoking and damaged by fire, when the firemen arrived and it was rendered safe at once, as the Gavroy house was already past saving. It is fully forty feet from the Gavroy house. The loss on it will be considerable.

Recalls Memories.

As Chief Charles H. Lynn approached the scene of the fire, he had visions of the fire at the same house on the early morning of April 3, 1919, when the house was gutted and Mrs. Stephem Herman and two children were burned to death.

Arriving on the scene, he immediately determined that all persons were out of the house.

According to the story told the fire authorities, Mrs. Gavroy was

Tennessee Slayer Of Three Persons Finally Captured After Battle

(International News Service)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 13.—Captured after a thrilling fight in which police were forced to dynamite his house, W. B. Johnson, slayer of three persons was brought to a local hospital in a critical condition.

Johnson, former deputy sheriff of Jefferson county, withstood a siege lasting several hours, when he barricaded himself in his home after shooting Mrs. Josie B. Howard, 60, and her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Bishop, in their home in Jefferson City.

The shooting followed an argument over an old trouble, it was said, and dashing out of the house Johnson ran to his own about a half mile away threatening to shoot anyone who tried to capture him.

Suddenly appearing in an upper window of his house, Johnson opened fire on the crowd below. Dibbrell Hicks, football star of Carson-Newman college, fell fatally wounded with a bullet in the head.

A force of policemen and sheriff's deputies was hastily sent to the scene and throughout the evening Johnson continued to defy them. Finally a part of the house was dynamited and Johnson came running out in terror. He was found to have been shot several times, and was rushed to a hospital here.

Coasters Hurt As Bobsled Strikes Mail Box Post

Serious Accident Occurs On Wednesday Night Near Graceland Cemetery

THREE IN HOSPITAL FOLLOWING CRASH

James Mayberry And Mr. And Mrs. George Mitchell Are Injured

Three persons were injured, two seriously, shortly before 10 o'clock last night when the bobsled on which they and two other persons were coasting down the hill on the old Eastbrook road, near the entrance to Graceland cemetery crashed into a rural delivery mail box in front of the home of Lester B. Reynolds.

All three persons were unconscious when removed to the Shenango Valley hospital in ambulances summoned, and two were reported today by the hospital as being in a semi-conscious condition, as well as a rather serious condition.

The Injured

James H. Mayberry, 22, R. D. No. 5, lower jaw broken in two places and other injuries of the head and body. Still in a semi-conscious condition.

Mrs. George Mitchell, aged about 22, R. D. No. 5, laceration above the left eye and bruises about the body. A semi-conscious condition developed during the night.

George Mitchell, aged about 22, R. D. No. 5, severe cuts on the lower lip and jaw that required a number of stitches and a generally bruised condition. Reported improved this morning.

This is the most serious coasting accident of the present year in the district. It was a merry party of coasters that started at the top of the hill previous to the accident.

Five Persons on Sled

The five persons on the bobsled were Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell and James H. Mayberry, the three persons injured; James Doyle of Highland avenue, and Hilbert Reynolds, Neshannock boulevard extension.

Mayberry was guiding the sled down the hill, which was a glare of ice which made excellent coasting.

When the sled reached a point

Chaplin's Girl Wife To Seek Entire Estate

Lita Grey Chaplin To Ask For Entire Sixteen Million Dollar Estate

Attorneys Investigate Payment Weekly To Edna Purviance

By MILLER HOLLAND
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—Eighteen-year-old Lita Grey Chaplin, who is seeking a divorce from Charles Chaplin, famous film comedian, may seek the entire Chaplin estate for herself and her two babies, instead of asking for half of the $16,000,000 fortune as is customary in California divorce settlements, it was learned here today from attorneys representing the young wife.

At the same time it was learned that Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys were prepared to take drastic steps to protect the interests of the film comedian's girl wife.

On the heels of the receivership which left all of Chaplin's funds and property in California "tied up", notice was served by Edwin T. McMurray, heading Mrs. Chaplin's legal battery, that he will move to halt the pay of Edna Purviance, one-time leading woman for Chaplin, and still said to be on the Chaplin payroll at $250 a week.

Murray contended that Miss Purviance was not entitled to any salary, he alleged, she had not been in the employ of the Chaplin studios for several years. He also declared he would investigate just why this money was still being paid Miss Purviance.

"This money should go to Chaplin's children," Murray said.

FIRST ROBIN

Pennsylvania R. R. Man Sees One At Freight House This Morning

Firt robin of the year was reported this morning by T. A. Beebe, checker at the Pennsylvania Railroad Freight house, when shortly after the cars had been opened for the transfer and removal of freight he saw Mr. Robin sitting on a branch of a tree on the bank of the Shenango river.

Is spring so near or is this just a lonely wanderer who was lost from the band that wended their way southward last fall The surmise of the men at the freight station is that this harbinger of spring came into New Castle shut up in one of the box cars that was received during the night from points of the southland and that when the doors were opened this morning he stretched his wings after the long dismal ride and invited by the light and outdoors flitted out of the car and seated himself on the barren tree top. This surmise is supported by the fact that the robin was not only much ruffled but very dirty as though he had been buffetted around in the car for several days.

Beebe said that the other day a wild duck was seen swimming in the river and diving under the ice, apparently looking for a meal. Occasionally wild ducks are seen but it seldom that a robin red breast is seen so soon in the new year.

Maniac Murders Detailed Guard In Hospital Ward

Arsenal Hospital Guard In Philadelphia Slain By Demented Inmate

SIX BULLETS PIERCE BODY

Assailant Subdued By Dozen Hospital Attaches After Attack

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—Overpowered by a maniac who attacked him suddenly in the psychopathic ward of Frankford Arsenal hospital, Harry Earle Atwood, who enlisted recently, was slain today with his own pistol.

Six bullets riddled Atwood's body. He died a few hours later in the hospital.

Atwood's assailant, Tony Bruno, 25, was subdued by nearly a dozen hospital attendants after a fierce struggle. He was so violent, authorities said, that it was necessary to pinion him in a straight jacket.

Atwood, who lived with his mother, Mrs. Margaret Thomas, in West Philadelphia, was detailed to guard Bruno following the latter's arrest on a charge of being absent without leave. When taken into custody Bruno's actions were so queer he was ordered to the hospital for observation.

While Atwood's back was turn-

Hope To Complete Jury List Today In Norris Trial

Eight Jurors Selected For Duty As Court Opens Today

CONTINUANCE OF TRIAL IS HEARD

(International News Service)

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 13.—Eight jurymen had been accepted for the trial of Rev. J. Frank Norris, of Fort Worth, charged with murdering D. E. Chipps, lumberman, last July 17, when district court reconvened today.

Laboring tediously yesterday, three men were added to the box, after five had been accepted Tuesday.

Talk about a continuance of the trial, which already had been delayed from November to this month, on a change of venue here from Forth Worth, again was heard today.

The speculation was around the attack last night on Mac A. Galbreath, brother of C. A. Galbreath, on of the eight jurymen. He was attacked and beaten into unconsciousness by two negro highwaymen. Should his condition become critical, as is possible, according to physicians, the brother on the Norris jury may be called to his bedside.

When court opened the state had used 8 of it's 15 challenges, while the defense had expended only four. There still remained more than a hundred of the panel of 500, from which it was hoped the other four jurymen could be selected today.

Senate Battle Over Woods Is In Full Swing

Interstate Committee Rejects Appointment, But Senate Action In Doubt

SENATE SPLIT ON UNUSUAL LINES

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—One of the most complicated political battles in its history was pending in the senate today over the nomination of Cyrus E. Woods, of Pennsylvania, as a member of the interstate commerce commission.

Although his appointment was rejected by the senate interstate commerce committee by a vote of 8 to 6, the ultimate action of the senate remained in doubt. Both his friends and foes predicted victory.

Senate Split.

A former American diplomat, a successful business man and the personal selection of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Woods was said to possess all the necessary personal qualifications for the post. His nomination, however, may be rejected by the senate because the senate has split into two of the strangest political camps on record.

The crux of the warfare was a secret clash between the forces of organized labor and those of the open shop movement. Superimposed on this was the usual antipathy of senate insurgents toward the naming of a "big business" man to a commission regulating business. In the foreground was a battle between states over future action by the commission on lake cargo railroad rates on coal.

The rate question, which found West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee bitterly fighting Woods because he is a Pennsylvanian, drew Indiana, Ohio and Illinois to his defense. The reason, stated privately by senators, was that the states opposing Woods are dominated by the open shop movement while those defending him have nothing but union mines. This brought organized labor to the side of Mellon's appointee.

Charley Chaplin Still Elusive

Refuses To Make Any Statement While Making Brief Stop In Chicago

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Charley Chaplin continued as elusive as ever today, despite the fact that newspaper reporters had him "cornered" for a few minutes here last night after he stepped off a Santa Fe train from California.

The famous film comedian is believed enroute to New York, although no one is quite sure just what became of him. The Atlantic Express which left here early today with one pullman for New York, was reported carrying a passenger and a servant who resembled Chaplin and his Japanese valet.

"It's terrible—simply terrible," said Chaplin to reporters who met him as he stepped off the Santa Fe train here last night. When asked for a statement regarding the divorce suit filed against him in Los Angeles last Monday by Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, the comedian said:

"Please, boys, let's don't talk about it. It's too terrible for words. I can't make any statement—not now. Not until I confer with my attorney."

Wrangle Over Welfare Post

Appointment Of Welfare Secretary Holding Up State Cabinet Announcement

TWO FACTIONS IN HOT FIGHT

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13—Failure to decide upon the selection of a person to fill the secretaryship of the department of welfare, is delaying the announcement of Governor-elect John S. Fisher's cabinet appointments, it was reported here today.

Two factions of women Republicans have been clamoring for the post in addition to the candidates put forward by the men, it is said.

The precedent established by Gov. Gifford Pinchot when he appointed Dr. Ellen C. Potter, the incumbent, leads the women of all factions to insist that the post should go to a woman, however they can't agree on the person to be appointed.

The League of Women Voters, it was reported, insists upon the reappointment of Dr. Potter while another faction headed by Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Scranton, are urging Dr. Mary Wolf of Laureltown for the post. The men are advancing the claims of Dr. J. M. Murdock, but concede that perhaps a woman should be given the deputy secretaryship.

Mrs. A. R. Kerr, N. Beaver street, who has been ill with bronchitis for the past three weeks, is recovering.

A couple of days or a week or so, is long enough for a song, but he hasn't bowed off since he took the stage, and it seems that his act is long. The actor is Winter, and how he acts is a caution to one and all, and we hope when he leaves he'll be off for a while, 'till a month or so after next fall. For we're tired a bit of this Winter act, let's hope that Spring won't be late, for her act is always a pleasing bit, the weather is twenty-eight.

No. 2 broke down enroute, when a pinion gear was stripped and did not reach the scene. It will be out of service for some time. Central engine will answer all alarms in the district covered by No. 2.

near the L. B. Reynolds property on the highway, for some reason or other it skidded into the mail box post and the five persons on it were thrown off.

The injured persons were carried into the Reynolds home and Dr. Samuel Warner summoned; also several ambulances.

Dr. Warner, on his arrival, found Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and Mayberry all unconscious and all apparently seriously injured. Doyle and Reynolds had escaped injury.

He ordered the injured persons to the hospital and they were removed to the Shenango Valley hospital, where they were given all possible assistance and steps taken to relieve the conditions resulting from their injuries.

This morning it was reported at the hospital that the condition of Mayberry was unchanged, he still being in a semi-conscious condition and suffering considerably from his injuries.

While last night after examination it was thought possible that the injuries of Mrs. Mitchell might not be of such a serious character, during the night she developed a semi-conscious condition which may indicate a fracture of the skull or other resulting complications, it is stated. Mr. Mitchell was somewhat improved this morning and will recover in a short time.

The scene of the accident has been the mecca of coasters since the weather conditions and fall of snow made it possible to coast, and there were considerable numbers of coasters on the hill when the accident occurred.

then meet in a district elimination contest, probably at the Senior High school here.

He also called attention to the fact that the county superintendents office this year would conduct the matter of examination of pupils for high school in accordance with the state school code, namely that districts having their own high schools, would be required this year to conduct the examination of pupils of their district for high school entrance instead of the county superintendent's office doing this and the respective high schools would be held responsible for the students going to high school in their districts. He also urged greater interest in the literary contests of the schools.

Dr. C. C. Green, the speaker of the evening was then introduced.

After expressing his deep appreciation of the priviledge of being permitted to address the high school teachers of Lawrence county, Dr. Green entered in upon his address, during which he voiced his opinions regarding present day educational methods, the needs along those lines and gave certain warnings against present day tendencies, which he said were affecting education today or would in the near future.

He said among other things, that the purpose of schools and education is to abolish illiteracy and develop good citizenship. The principal change he said is the fact that while that this is still the purpose of the schools that the present tendency is more and more to have this work done by at the public expense and has developed the school system into an agency for the welfare of the state.

A new estimate among other things, has been made on the value of child life as an asset to the community, he said, which has been expressed in the passage of child labor laws, compulsory education measures and the establishment of schools for defectives. He declared that while he did not care to assume the role of prophet, yet he believed that the next move in education would be the establishment of a special type of schools for the development of the brighter children, from whose ranks the leaders must come.

He also called attention to the fact of the increased interest in what was one time termed in a general way as physical education, but which he was pleased to term health education. He expressed himself as being highly favorable to health education as it was not possible for the pupil whose physical condition is not right to make progress mentally.

Education, he said, was formerly individualistic. Is is now social in its aims, that is the development of all on a basis that will tend to the benefit of the community and state. It has resulted, he said, in the centralization of authority in the state as the result of the increasing demands made that the state assume the responsibilities.

One of the things tending to be harmful is the fact that while formerly there was a tendency of the pupil wanting more education to depend on himself for the same to a considerable extent the present day tendency is too much along the line that "Father" owes the student an education and should do the work and pay for it.

Another present day tendency that is detrimental, he said, is the fact that boys and girls are no longer willing to start at the bottom and work up. Practice is what makes for success, he said, and this practice is gained only by starting at the bottom and working up.

He said the present day tendency is to add too many duties to those of a teacher. The schools are asked to sponsor so many things today, he said, that it is almost impossible to get half a day's work on instruction. This tendency of enriching the courses of study makes a condition he said, toward educational gout.

The teachers, he said, should object to so many duties being thrust upon them that they cannot teach the fundimentals. The teacher can create conditions favorable to study but cannot make the student think. It depends on the homes, he said, to create favorable conditions for thinking and studying.

One of the unfortunate tendencies, he said was what termed "Spenditis." This tendency in young people must be curbed.

He said that while he was a firm believer in the value of athletics, that he was opposed what he was pleased to term "Athletiephobia." He was opposed to the tendency that made the public froth at the mouth over things athletic. He did not care, he said for the tendency of the present day Romans, which made the boys on teams injure their lives in an effort to please the people.

The tendency, he said of the young people to believe that they must go to school dressed in the height of fashion is detrimental to education. This tendency he said should be curbed.

He was a firm believer, he said, in the need of retaining the fundimentals, such as reading, writing and the solving of problems. History also, in his estimation is necessary to a well rounded education. It is needed more than ever.

At the conclusion of Dr. Green's address, Superintendent Syling called attention to the fact that Slippery Rock State normal school would send a librarian to assist any of the schools in organizing their libraries.

The success of the event was due to the efforts of the committee consisting of H. J. Colton, president, E. Preston Sharp and County Superintendent of Schools J. C. Syling.

Arrest Farrell Man On Accusation Of Aiding Prisoner

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 13.—James Purdy of Farrell was arrested today on the charge of assisting W. D. Schrawder to escape from the improvised cell on the third floor of the Mercer court house last Tuesday.

Schrawder who was imprisoned on the third floor of the court house with four other men was found to have made his escape early Tuesday morning by means of a rope of bed clothes which was hung from a window of the third floor, but as the rope reached only as far as the second floor it was apparent that he had assistance in reaching the ground and escaping.

Information which led to the arrest of Purdy was obtained by questioning the other four men with whom Schrawder was imprisoned. These men with Schrawder were in confinement on the third floor of the court house on account of the repairs being made to the Mercer county jail.

ing passengers in the front part, other passengers in the rear of the car went for aid. The bandits fled into the baggage car when J. J. Fulton, a brakeman off duty, approached them.

Capture Effected.

After robbing F. W. Dorsey, baggagemaster, the bandits reentered the smoker and were accosted by Fulton who made a dash for Hevner, the armed bandit. Hevner warned him to stand back, and pulled the trigger when Fulton ignored his command, police said.

Fulton owes his life to the fact that Hevner's gun jammed. An instant later the railroad man overpowered Hevner, wresting his gun from him, while passengers pounced upon Rhodes.

The prisoners were taken to Pittsburgh and turned over to police. While panic prevailed on the front coaches during the robbery many passengers in the rear coaches did not know the train was being robbed until the bandits had been captured.

Atwood shouted for help but the crazed man snatched his pistol and as attendants rushed to the rescue emptied the contents of the weapon at Atwood as he tried to regain his feet, police said. Then Bruno leveled the empty gun at the oncoming hospital attaches and held them at bay for several minutes.

BROKEN REST
Caused by Bladder Irritation Is Nature's Danger Signal

C. R. Kidney, Ontario, N. Y., says: "Lithiated Buchu has done more for me than all other remedies combined. Some days I had almost a constant desire with a terrible burning sensation. Would be bothered about six times at night. Will tell or write my experience to any one." Don't take astringents for this. You may get the habit or be forced continually to aid nature. Lithiated buchu, (Keller Formula), acts on the bladder as epsom salts do on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter, decreases excessive acids, thereby relieving irritation.

The tablets cost 2c each at drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Paisley's Pharmacy.

PARENTS OF 36 CHILDREN

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE received at the white house and congratulated a citizen whose claim to distinction rests upon the fact that he is the father of twenty-four children. Fast upon his heels has come Reuben Bland, of North Carolina, father of thirty-six, upon whom similar honors were conferred. The Carolinian, after basking in the warm glow of presidential approbation, was ushered to the house of representatives and there introduced by his congressmen as "a man who has been and is contributing more to the man-power of the nation than any other one citizen."

Father Bland's honors are justly earned and bestowed and there is no desire to detract from them, for his is a patriotic and practical campaign against race suicide. But it strikes one that some recognition—and a great share of the incidental honor—belongs elsewhere. A solemn protest is herewith registered against this practice at the white house of showering honors upon fathers of large families while mothers wait outside or, perhaps, toil at home caring for those large families.

Fathers who have provided for one child have a faint idea of the magnitude of the job of a bread winner for thirty-six, or even twenty-four. Thirty-six times the cost of one pair of shoes and thirty-six times one full dinner plate belong in the realm of higher mathematics, even though they fall a little short of the dignity of international debt settlement calculations.

While the job of the father of thirty-six surpasses the twelve labors of Hercules, even it becomes a pastime in comparison with the duties of the mother of such a family. Of such as Mother Bland was it written "A mother's work never ends."

WIDER ROADS NEEDED

PARALYSIS of motor traffic in many sections of the United States within the next few years unless the nation's highway construction is revised and accelerated is a menace seen by highway and traffic authorities.

Surveys undertaken over large areas by the federal bureau of public roads and by private organizations indicate clearly that within the next half dozen years hundreds of millions of dollars must be added annually to the $1,000,000,000 a year now being spent on highway construction and maintenance.

It is not that the country is not building roads rapidly enough, but that the roads being built are not wide enough to meet expected future needs and, in some cases, even present needs.

Of the 145,000 miles of roadway in the United States 63,518 miles are paved with concrete, brick, macadam, asphalt or some other hard surface, but of this paved mileage the major portion is already outgrown by the traffic. Where there is need for an 18-foot road there exists but a 14-foot highway, and where traffic conditions demand a roadway wide enough for four streams of traffic there is room for only three or two.

America's "good roads" program is relatively young; so young in fact that up to this time the public cry has been for mileage and more mileage without a thought for durability or width. The fact that the public is now awakening to the inadequate width of the average improved highway is evidence that the first craving for mileage is well on the way toward satiety.

NEW REPORT ON ELLIS ISLAND

FOREIGN critics, both official and unofficial, who have visited Ellis Island and have taken pen in hand to describe its medieval horrors and the hardships and indignities to which their nationals have been subjected, have been so numerous and noisy that it is peculiarly pleasant to read the friendly, almost flattering, account of the immigration depot given by a Norwegian woman sent here to investigate conditions on the island.

This investigator was impressed by the modernized sanitary arrangements and the politeness and consideration shown immigrants. Medical examination to which immigrants must submit at Ellis Island was found no more of a hardship than is the examination any applicant for life insurance must undergo in this country. She found the meals adequate and tasty; the kitchen clean and up-to-date; the play rooms for immigrant children a veritable fairyland in the eyes of children using them; lounging rooms, schoolrooms and hospital up to the standards of the best housekeeper.

Her criticisms are constructive. Her chief suggestion, that the admissibility of immigrants be determined, so far as possible, before they leave their native countries, has often been sponsored by immigration authorities here and is now in force, at least in part.

Careful analysis, judicious praise and temperate criticism may lack that popular appeal enjoyed by angry and irresponsible outbursts, but they are not without real value to those who would know the truth.

Poor man's hotel in New York rents beds for 25 cents, which are sleeping quarters.

A young woman in this state who has been married some years, shot and killed a 17-year-old girl because she woulud not keep away from her husband after being warned many times. Toying with another lady's husband when she knows it is not very healthy some times.

A brass band can make almost as much noise as a baby when the little fellow awakes at two in the morning.

The river is frozen over again at Oil City. People have not forgotten the last time it was frozen over and they feel like galloping to the hills when they see it now.

A man who couldn't budge a sack of cement can sit with a 125-pound girl in his lap for hours.

America would still be a great nation if no men survived except those who help with the dishes.

The principal witness against Aimee McPherson, the red-headed female Los Angeles evangelist, was a woman, and the district attorney says he had to give up prosecuting the case because this woman changed her story almost daily. It really isn't safe for one to say what he thinks about this case, as the libel laws protect the crooks as well as the decent people.

The world will be safe until they start using pictures of good-looking men for magazine covers.

A Pittsburgh lady set her bed on fire while she was in it smoking a cigarette. The firemen got there in time to save her, but the bed and the cig were total losses.

Mail carriers make good money and all they have to do is to walk.

It is claimed that livestock worth more than a million dollars is killed annually in this country by snake bites. Livestock is not effected by the same kind of snake bite cures as humans are.

Very few critics have any better plan to offer than the ones they criticise.

When a man is considered a joke it is a serious thing to him, and often he does not realize it.

A writer complains to us about our frequent outbursts on carrots, spinach and parsnips. Carrots, she says, can be cooked in 36 different ways, spinach in 11 and parsnips in ten. Dear lady, far be it from me to dispute you, but I insist that carrots, spinach and parsnips can be eaten in one way, no matter how they are cooked. I shall gladly will you my share.

Advice to pedestrians: Don't get too proud of your right-of-way. It's likely to be stolen.

Mrs. Charley Chaplin has made some unprintable charges against Charley in her divorce application. She says he also boasted of other love affairs to her. Maybe Fatty Arbuckle will not be so bad, after all, when we hear the facts about this case.

President Coolidge says Americans in Mexico will be protected. Any person who has ever been in Mexico will appreciate that, especially if they ever tried to take a picture of a jail there when soldiers were on guard—Mexican soldiers, of course.

Th esupreme court of Pennsylvania has, in a decision, upheld the gasoline tax in this state. An oil company in New Jersey had the temerity to question the tax with a suit.

Eleven deaths from alcoholism is the record in Pittsburgh since the first of this year. Some bozos will just keep licking it up until it gets them.

President Coolidge has quit eating buckwheat cakes and sausage for breakfast. The President evidently thinks he takes enough chances on his life without doing that.

We have noticed that in homes where mother and daughter are also smoking, the tobacco coupons are piling up just a lot faster than they used to.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

After the motor accident the unfortunate victim was carried into a house nearby. A few minutes later a smartly dressed young man ran up the steps and rang the bell.

"Excuse me," he said to the maid that opened the door, "can I see the gentleman who was brought in here a few moments ago?"

"I'm afraid not," replied the girl, "he hasn't come to his senses yet."

"Good!" said the other, "that will suit me fine. I want to sell him another car."

Dear Hints and Dints:

I held within my grasp a perfumed, alluring, beautiful object; I pressed it tenderly to my burning cheek and held it close to my throbbing heart as I inhaled its subtle fragrance. I reveled in the absolute ownership of its care and unselfish devotion; which to me was life, love, health and the necessity of my being.

In an unguarded moment it slipped away from me. I reached for it with feverish haste—it was almost within my grasp once more. But in that hour of exultation it eluded me and sank to the deepest abyss.

One more desperate effort, and I held within the hollow of my two hands, my cake of scented toilet soap. A. C. E.

Rabbi Wise of New York denounces "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" as a thoroughly immoral book. The first time we tried to read the book we couldn't get past the third chapter. Now we will have to start all over again and read the book through.

Another wave of reform seems to be sweeping over the country. Some folks think that young men ought to go to college to study and not to play football.

"A small Columbus girl," relates the Indianapolis News, "went home from school one evening with her face wreathed in gloom, and all the questions her mother asked her failed to bring an explanation. Her sorrow evidently increasing as the evening wore on, the mother took her in hand, determined to find the cause of her woe. Finally the truth came out. "I promised my teacher this morning I never would be in company with my daddy again," wailed the tot, and her grief once having an outlet, became more and more violent. The astonished mother questioned further and discovered at school that morning, following an anti-cigarette playlet by some of the pupils, all the girls in the room had pledged themselves to keep out of the presence of cigarette smokers."

A successful stage play named "Pigs" has been made over for the movies under the new title of "The Midnight Kiss." It is pretty hard to see the relation of the original name to the last, but perhaps there is not much relationship between the stage play and the movie version.

Announcement of the discovery of one corn borer in Illinois caused an advance of a cent a bushel in the price of corn. The speculators hope a few more will be found, but those who grow the corn know they have a fight on their hands next summer when the new crop comes on.

The north with its heavy snow, has, after all, less to worry over than the south, which has no snow, but floods instead. There is something about every section of the country that isn't very desirable but only California denies it. They admit perfect climatic conditions at all seasons of the year.

The threat of war with Mexico is one incident of history that repeats itself at very brief intervals.

Henry Ford says that the outlook for the new year is excellent. We presume this forecasts the announcement that all the new flivvers will have automatic windshield wipers.

Three thousand Londoners affirm they have talked with the dead. But with all that evidence we are still skeptical.

The problem of how to get rid of the surplus won't bother very long if there are a few more investigations to be made. The Senate voted $150,000 to look into the Vare-Wilson fuss a little deeper.

If women are such sorry drivers, why do most husbands willingly sit on the right-hand side?

The Mayor of a southern city pardoned nearly 200 prisoners on Christmas, and 189 of them were back in jail to celebrate New Years. Wonder if the news of this will make an impression on Governor Ma Ferguson.

Secretary Hoover says that within a few years six to seven million tourists will go to Florida every winter. That is probably true, but doesn't mean anything except that the highways south will be crowded with motorists.

If about one-third of what Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin says about her husband is true it looks as though the silver screen will have to struggle along without the artistic services of one Charles Spencer Chaplin.

Two houses have been leased for 10,000 years. And if the roofs don't leak the lease on them will likely be renewed for another like period.

The Department of Commerce plans to add 5,000 miles to the airways this year. We hope that it can be done cheaper than adding the same number of miles to the roadways in a year.

Good and Bad.

Some of the news is bad, some good.

There is a plague of influenza sweeping Europe, not quite, but nearly as bad as the original attack that killed millions just after the war. In Spain alone, 200,000 are ill, France and Switzerland are hit by the epidemic. Big American cities would do well to segregate severe influenza cases. New York city's health department has set the example.

Mexico's action, exiling Monsignor Diaz, spokesman of the Catholic church, and arresting several bishops, forty Catholic officials in all, has evidently aroused the indignation of the Mexican people, intensely religious and devoutly Catholic, to a white heat of indignation.

The religious war in Mexico grows more serious. Reports from Mexico City tell of twenty-one killed in battle.

The mayor and other officials of the town of Cocula were killed by indignant Catholics, when they attempted to interfere with a church demonstration. A local deputy, Sostenas Castillo, is also reported killed.

While the war goes on in Mexico it seems to have died out in the United States Senate. President Coolidge's energetic message indicating that the United States intends to do something from time to time has calmed the troubled waters.

Here is good and interesting news. The various talking moving picture contrivances have got together for the general improvement of talking pictures that will be the great educational and amusement device of the future.

B,. F. Blume president and J. E. Otterson vice president of the Western Electric Co., which controls the vitaphone saw in William Fox's studio remarkable pictures of Raquel Meller the Spanish actress singing and acting.

The reproduction of voice, movement of lips, gecture and expression of the face synchronization were absolutely perfect. Having seen and heard that picture it is not necessary to see Raquel Meller herself.

Mr. Blume in whose laboratories was perfected the mechanism for talking across the Atlantic ocean, announces an arrangement by which the Fox-Case talking pictures method and the Vitaphone method would be interchanged. Those that own various talkig picture devices have arranged to exchange information and allow one to use the ideas of patents of the other for the benefit of the industry,

Messrs. Blume and Otterson also saw intensely interesting educational pictures for public schools in which Mr. Fox is specializing. That is the great moving picture need of the day and other producers should interest themselves in it.

Mr. Eastman of the kodak company is producing educational moving pictures and will distribute actual moving picture lessons in surgery for doctors. The talking moving picture will make it possible for surgeons to be heard and seen lecturing and operating at the same time.

To make Spain's influenza epidemic seem worse there are earthquakes in Portugal sending people flying into the streets and fields. Subterranean rumbles add to the terror.

Portugal more than any other country dreads earthquakes with good reason. The worst earthquake in all recorded history destroyed the ity of Lisbon and caused one distinguished individual to lose his taith in guiding providence.

Other millions fortunately, reflected on the rarity of such earthquakes believed in providence all the more.

This proud country now owns the biggest banking institution in the world. New York's National City bank of which Charles . Mitchell is president, That bank's deposits run $162,000,000 above the billion dollar mark. To cedebrate the bank added twenty-five millions to its fity millions of capitalization.

This is a prosperous country and the boom is disappointing those that expected to see it die or at least dwindle at the beginning of this year. We have 22,330,000 automobiles running enough to carry our whole population at once and more than 17,000,000 telephones.

Dentists warn women that excessive smoking brings on "Vincent's disease" also called "trench mouth." This disease which inflicted soldiers that had nothing to do but smoke while waiting in the trenches is painful, attacks the tissues, destroys the gums, causes bleeding.

However if women want to smoke dentists won't stop them. This writer tried it in vain 25 years ago by warning women that smoking makes their noses red and makes their moustaches grow. Still they wouldn't stop.

In Day's News

Henry Fairfield Osborn, who has been chosen President of the American Museum of Natural History at New York for the nineteenth successive year, is regarded as one of the foremost scientists in America. He is also widely known as an eminent paleontologist and educator. He was born in Connecticut in 1857 and was graduated from Princeton at the age of 20. In the course of his long professional career he has been an instructor in anatomy at Princeton, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, and in recent years professor of zoology in Columbia University. Dr. Osborn is a member of many scientific and learned societies in America, a number of which have honored him with their presidency, while further honors have come to him from numerous universities and scientific societies abroad.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE PENALTY OF PROMINENCE

Prominence has its danger.

Many of us are more or less anxious to be famous. We would like to be gazed at and crowded after like "Doug" and Mary or like the late Mr. Valentino. Many of us lament the fact that our days must be spent in some lowly valley where we are practically unknown.

We might get some comfort from what "Doug" said the other day when he remarked that he had to pay five or six times as much in tips as the ordinary person. When a man is reputed to be making a lot of money or have a lot of money every conceivable kind of attack is made upon him to get some of it away from him. And there seems to be something in human nature that enjoys taking a whack at a prominent man. Nobody is safe. You would think that the American people would have undying and universal gratitude for such a hero as Admiral Dewey, and yet when he came home and married a wife of a different religious faith and gave her his house public opinion was up in arms, although what Admiral Dewey did with his own property was none of its business.

You speedily discover that when you're president or senator or governor or some such thing, whatever you do is the public's business.

Little acts or peccadillos that would pass unnoticed in an ordinary man are played up when they are yours, in the yellow newspapers. You have to be careful about your walk and about your dress. About where you spit and whom you speak to. The eyes of humanity are all upon you, and living so, with everybody watching you, is something like being a gold fish. It is not so pleasant.

There is a childish element in humanity which cannot resist throwing stones at anything that is up high on the wall.

Publicity is a great thing and doubtless makes some people a vast deal of money, but it is a dangerous thing and, on the whole, a man is safer when he doesn't fool with it.

Bible Thought For Today

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKE

Two departments of a great railroad of the West are at loggerheads over the use of the number of the verb "to be". Some say that "are" ought to be used, and some say that "is" should be used, and the question is so interesting that one after another of the leading universities have joyously taken sides, until some say that this question is really at the bottom of the present disturbances between Harvard and Princeton.

The question may be new to them, but it is old, and was settled long ago. Back in the early days of Missouri, when transportation was by oxteam or Shank's livery, even before Volstead was hatched, and sugar was so expensive that blackstrap molasses was used for sweetening, a cabin dweller traveled to the settlement for family supplies, including the usual jug of blackstrap. Arrived there, he tasted something that, while not so sweet as blackstrap, suited him better. He took several samples and finally ordered the jug filled with it. On arrival home in a mellow mood, he deposited his purchases on the cabin floor. His wife, sensing something wrong, pulled the corncob stopper from the jug, smelled it, and then with hands on hips and arms akimbo, faced him and demanded, "Where's those molasses?" With a wave of the hand towards the jug, the answer was, "Them's they."

Yes, them's those!

IMPORTANCE.

You say you're not important! Why you're more important far
Than presidents and monorchs and all famous people are.
Boy o' mine, if you knew it, what you are and what you'll be
Are all that really matters to your mother and to me.

I can prove what I am saying. If the president should die
We should feel a touch of sadness, but if we shouldn't really cry.
Deaths of kings and famous people little lasting sorrow leave.
But if you were taken from us, we should never cease to grieve.

Boy, do't ever get the notion that you're not important here.
For your life is all-important to the ones who hold you dear.
You can make our lives or mar them.
All our dreams are wrapped in you.
You can bring us to disaster if one careless deed you do.

If you're hurt we suffer also. If you triumph we rejoice.
We are radiantly happy when you make the braves choice.
So don't think you're unimportant.
What you are and what you'll be
Are all that really mater to your mother and to me.

POEMS I LOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"The Terror of Death," by John Keats.

Here is another of those mosaics of the great Keats, that most perfect of poets, preserved for us in the form which Rossetti called "a monument's monument." Here is the poet in deep contemplation, wondering once more at our transitory existence but by no means in a mood of despair.

When I have fears that I may cease to be
Before my pen has gleaned my teeming brain,
Before high-pil'd books, in charact'ry
Hold like rich garners the full-ripened grain

When I behold, upon the night's starred face,
Huge cloudy symbols of a high romance,
And think that I may never live
to trace
Their shadows, with the magic hand of chance;

And when I feel, fair creature of an hour!
That I may never look upon thee
more,
Never have relish in the fairy power
Of unreflecting love—then on the shore

Of the wide world I stand alone, and think
Till love and fame to nothingness do sink.

I don't wonder so many women talk about Rinso! Why, it's so good in our water here that it takes all the hard work out of washing and cleaning. A good soaking in the safe Rinso suds loosens all the dirt and when you take the clothes out you only have to rinse them thoroughly and with a tiny rub here and there, they're ready to be hung up. And how snowy, fresh-looking and unharmed they turn out! All my friends use Rinso too because they say it saves them so much time and work. I always keep a large package handy near the sink—it's just great for washing dishes, floors and painted woodwork.

MRS. C. T. KELLY,
15 Robinson Street,
New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this.

Popular Here, Robinson St. Woman Says:

Clothes get whiter -last longer, too

when dirt is soaked out this gentle way

MAKE next washday a pleasant adventure. Change to Rinso!

Just a simple change in soap, but here's what happens: No more scrubbing. No more hard rubbing. No boiling, even—unless you like to.

Yet a whiter, brighter wash than ever! Soaked clean — not scrubbed threadbare. Even the parts that soil most, the cuffs and edges, need only a gentle touch between the fingers to come snowy.

No wonder clothes last longer, keep their colors better, this way!

Just soak and rinse

Nothing compares with Rinso. It gives thick, soapy suds even in hardest water. These suds loosen dirt and stains so they float off without hard rubbing. No need for a washboard, now!

Rinso gets clothes the whitest white you ever saw, without boiling. Sterilizes, too! And it's so safe; contains no acids, bleaches or harmful chemicals.

Your hands will be grateful for the change. Rinso saves them from getting old and washworn.

Get Rinso from your grocer today. So economical. It's all you need—no bar soaps, chips or powders. For best results follow easy directions on package.

Best in washers, too!

Because it is efficient and safe, and because it gets clothes whiter and brighter, Rinso is highly recommended by the makers of 30 leading washing machines.

National Fraternity Grants Charter To Westminster Club

Crescent Club Becomes Affiliated With National College Fraternity

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 13.—Announcement was made on Wednesday through the executive office at Westminster College, that the Phi Pi Phi fraternity, a national organization having its headquarters at Chicago, Ill., has granted a charter to the Crescent Club of Westminster. The Westminster unit is to be known as the Nu chapter.

The announcement was met with approval from other social organizations on the campus as the trend in recent years has been towards national organizations. Phi Pi Phi is the second national men's fraternity to come to the Westminster campus.

The Crescent Club was organized at Westminster in 1905 by a group of eight men. It is incorporated under a charter granted by the court of Lawrence County. The home of the club is located on Waugh avenue.

Installation of the Crescent Club as a national fraternity will take place January 20. About 36 active members will be affected while many members of the Crescent Brotherhood, the Alumni organization, will also become affiliated with the national.

Phi Pi Phi was organized at Chicago, in 1915, making it the oldest national national to establish a chapter at Westminster. At the present time it is composed of 12 chapters, the Crescent Club to be the thirteenth. The organization is a well-knit affair having men who have devoted their entire time for years to fraternity work as its executives. Its slow but normal growth marks it as a fraternity to be desired on the Westminster campus.

Chapters of the fraternity are at the following schools: Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.; University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.; Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago, Ill.; University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.; Washburn College, Topeka, Kan.; University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.; University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah; University of California, Berkeley, Calif.; Washington & Jefferson College, Washington, Pa.; Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, O.; Baldwin Wallace College at Berea, O.; and the Founders, at Chicago, Ill.

Officers of the club are: William Thomas of Farrell, president; Robert Ferguson of Bellevue, vice-president; Harry Newell of Sharon, treasurer and Arthur Calvin of New Galilee, secretary. Donald McClure of Blairsville, is chairman of the club's national fraternity committee.

State College To Have An Exhibit

Will Show Farmers Approved Method Of Drainage To Benefit Fields

An exhibit of approved methods of tile drainage to make fields more uniformly productive, to eliminate spouty places which mire farm machinery, and to erase from the farm landscape the wet spots which often get seeded and fertilized but produce no crop will be a part of the Pennsylvania State College educational display at the State Farm Products Show in Harrisburg, January 17 to 21.

How tile drains help crop growth in dry years will be presented. Drainage methods advocated for Pennsylvania are not intended to increase the acreage planted but to bring a larger return on the time and money invested by increasing the yield. A few samples of old drains will exhibition to show what is necessary to secure permanence of the work.

It also is expected that the United States Weather Bureau booth, "When Lightning Strikes," will be exhibited with the State College material to bring out various points touched upon in meetings throughout the state.

These facts were sent to H. R. McCulloch of the Lawrence County Agriculture Association from State College.

The new Belgian coin, the belga, created to assist the stabilization of the currency, is now in circulation. In future all prices and wages in Belgium will be quoted in belgas.

Doctors Endorse
New Studebaker No-Draft Windshield

This diagram shows how the Studebaker no-draft ventilating windshield, when opened outward, directs the air up over the occupants' heads. The convenient handle on the dash adjusts the windshield to any desired position. A hidden trough under the cowl carries off rain when the windshield is set for storm-proof ventilation.

IN the matter of giving professional endorsements, doctors are the most conservative of men. Nevertheless, many leaders of the profession have volunteered their approval of the new no-draft ventilating windshield (patented by Studebaker).

Keeps Out Rain—Lets In Air—Avoids Drafts

Opened inwardly, this new Studebaker windshield directs the air currents down into the driver's compartment. In this position the windshield is also waterproof. In the stormiest downpour, with a driving rain slashing head-on against the open windshield, none can enter the car.

Opened outwardly, it deflects the air in a gentle current up over the heads of the occupants.

In neither case is there any direct draft, yet tobacco smoke and stale air are carried off, while the supply of clean, fresh air is constantly renewed.

All Studebaker Custom Cars have the following equipment

Front and rear bumpers; engine thermometer and hydrostatic gasoline gauge on the dash; coincidental lock; oil filter; automatic windshield cleaner; rear-vision mirror; traffic signal light; 4-wheel brakes; full-size balloon tires; and two-beam acorn headlights, controlled from steering wheel.

Only the fact that Studebaker manufactures all the vital parts of its cars in its own great plants makes such outstanding values possible.

"Your No-Draft Ventilating Windshield not only adds considerably to the comfort of driving, but gives a definite protection against the ills caused by riding in a draft. I believe it to be a decided reform from cowl or open windshield ventilation."
DR. CHAS. J. WHALEN,
Past President,
Illinois Medical Assn.,
Editor, Ill. Medical Journal.

"I am glad to write you what I think about the new Studebaker windshield. I have been over the matter carefully and think that it looks so good I feel sure my next car will have it. It looks like a physical impossibility that any amount of draft can bother the occupants of the seats of the vehicle."
J. M. BLACKFORD, M. D.,
Seattle, Wash.

"In the new Custom Sedan which you have just brought out, the ventilating windshield attracted my attention. I believe this windshield and the ventilating system used thereon, is about the most attractive and up to date arrangement I have ever seen.
"I tried the full effects of the windshield on a rainy day and am very much enthused about the operation of same and the benefits derived therefrom."
J. T. TRAVERS, M. D.,
New York City.

"The new windshield ventilating system is ideal. Its 'overhead or underfoot' selective feature is excellent for the avoidance of the disagreeable draughts to which one is subjected in most cars; and its rainstorm ventilation is a triumph. No more hot, stuffy cars during summer showers."
DR. B. STEWART RALSTON,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

"The health protection afforded by the new Studebaker ventilation system is not only unique, but should prove very valuable to persons who are subject to colds and other ailments caused by sudden weather changes. Studebaker is to be congratulated on this important advancement."
R. B. GRIFFITH, M. D.,
Los Angeles, Cal.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

YOUTH MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT WHILE TENDING HIS TRAPS IN WOODS

KANE, Pa., Jan. 13.—Albion Anderson, 18 years old, is in the Kane Summit hospital with a bad gunshot wound in his right side, just below the shoulder, caused, he says by a random shot. He declares he was sitting alone in a small shack on Tank Hill, a short distance from East Kane, when fired on from the rear.

He had been inspecting traps set for small game in nearby woods and had carried a shotgun on the trip. After Anderson was shot, he staggered 500 yards to the home of Mrs. Ernest Wilson, who had him taken to the hospital.

Police investigating were unable to find tracks in the snow within firing range of the shack except those made by Anderson himself and they suspect the youth may accidentally have fired the shot from his own gun, they declare. This Anderson denies, but he says he has no enemies and does not known who shot him. Anderson lives in East Kane; his father in Highland road, a few miles from Kane.

Over 200 local people will take part in "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop", the clever and hilarious musical comedy which will be presented at the Scottish Rite Cathedral Friday and Saturday evenings and at a special school children's matinee on Saturday afternoon.

The presentation tells a brilliant story of the adventures of a Parision doll, (Fi-Fi), who becomes endowed with life by means of a magic smelling salts and escapes from her box in the toy shop.

She proves a most up-to-date "vamp", breaking hearts galore, even eloping with the Man-in-the-Moon, a very sophisticated person, and with the rest of the toys, who go in search, meets with many wonderful adventures during the course of the night. The hilarious antics of Ink Spot, the Topsy of the piece; the love affair between the Sailor Doll and Loosey, the Rag Doll, and the keen and deadly rivalry between the Toy Soldier and Prince Lollipop, keep the audience in gales of laughter.

Special scenery and costumes, supplied on a lavish scale, will make the production one of the most brilliant ever presented in the city. Unlike most spectacular affairs, "Fi-Fi" possesses a plot and an interesting and complete story is told.

The music of "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop" is considered by those who have heard it as the best ever offered on the local stage.

It is certain that the voices of Mrs. Robert E. Fleming, Miss Helen Queer, William McCombs and Joseph Stritmater, with the aid of the other members of the local talent, will do full credit to them.

In addition to the principals in the extravaganza, who are given below, there are large groups of Live Letter Blocks, China Dolls, Bridesmaids, Paper Dolls, Noah's Ark Animals, Jumping Jacks, Fairies, etc., the latter comprising groups from the various schools of the city.

"COP" TRAPS THIEF WHO "QUITS COLD" ON OFFICER'S BLUFF

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 13.—Trapped in a store which he had just broken into through a transom, Robert E. Robinson, 20, a negro, was captured early this morning by Patrolman Carl Feldt.

Feldt, on his way home, noticed a ladder against an outside wall of the store and believing something wrong went to the front door and with revolver drawn, hammered at the entrance.

"Come out this way or I will shoot," he cried, thinking anyone inside would try to escape. Robinson walked to the door, opened it, and gave himself up.

Yet "duty" would prompt little child-beating if the kids could fight back effectively.

Good times are those in which the grocer waits while the people pay cash for gasoline.

Lefkowitz-Caplan Nuptials Performed

Impressive Ceremony Attends Marriage Of Miss Sara Caplan

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 13.—Beneath an arch of southern smilax fern, and banked with palms and glowing torchiers, the marriage of Miss Sara May Caplan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Caplan of this city, to Harry Lefkowitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lefkowitz of Pittsburgh, was consummated Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents on Fourth street.

A prelude to the ceremony, "I Love You Truly", was rendered on the violin by Donald Bartel, accompanied at the piano by Prof. O. E. Bartel. To the strains of Lohengrin's immortal march the bride entered on the arm of her father. She wore a charming ensemble of white satin, with her bouffant gown trimmed in a hem band of net and embroidered in gold thread. The bridal veil was caught with a coronet of rose point lace, studded with seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book. The bride's one attendant, her sister, Miss Geraldine Caplan, was attired in a gown of white crepe, heavily embroidered in crystal, and carried an arm shower of Ophelia roses. The bridal party was met at the altar by the groom and his attendant, George Lefkowitz.

Rabbi Philo of Youngstown married the couple with a beautiful and impressive ceremony in which he analyzed the word love, each letter being the first letter in four words constituting the pillars of an Israel marriage as meaning loyalty, obedience, virtue and effort, eloquently digressing on each word, making a most solemn and impressive ceremony.

At the conclusion of the nuptials, the members of the wedding party enjoyed a dinner at several tables decorated with smilax, sweetheart roses and tall pink tapers tied with matching tulle.

Mr. and Mrs. Lefkowitz leave tonight on a southern tour to Havana and other ports, their last stopping place being Cuba. They will be at home to their friends upon their return in Pittsburgh.

Local guests attending the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Conner, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Parshal, the Misses Whittaker, Mrs. H. E. Helling and daughter, Jean; the Misses Sue and Ella Cox, Mrs. William Thomas, Miss Bisella Caplan, Miss Florence Oswald, Miss Selda Twentier, Mrs. A. J. Dambach, Mrs. Ben Balter, Mrs. Max Gordon, Mrs. M. D. Bolotin, Mrs. A. Appelbaum, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Miller, Mrs. Keller and daughter and Mrs. B. J. Bell.

Relatives and out-of-town guests making up the dinner party were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Lefkowitz, Miss Ann Lefkowitz and George Lefkowitz and Mrs. Betler and daughter, sister of Mrs. Harry Caplan, of Pittsburgh, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Caplan of Rochester.

My Smile
Shows a row of pearls
By Edna Wallace Hopper.

I am asked by countless people how I got such pretty teeth. And how I keep them sound and glistening at my age. This is what I tell them.

For many years I spent on my teeth about 30 minutes daily. I used a cleanser, then a polisher, then an antiseptic mouth wash. And I forced magnesia between the teeth to neutralize all acids.

All this I did under dental advice, and I consulted high authorities. But now the great experts have combined all these helps in one tooth paste. I just apply that, and it does in a minute, all I did with many applications.

This new-type dentifrice is called Quindent, which means five in one. It is made by Quindent Laboratories to meet modern requirements. The makers supply me ten-day samples, and I will gladly mail one to anyone who asks. The coupon will bring it with my Beauty Book. Even one night's use will bring you new conceptions of a tooth paste.

Three Demands ~One Answer

There are three kinds of coffee buyers.

There's the woman who seeks low price; there's her sister who buys to a set price; there's the growing group who judge by the test of taste.

The first should buy C W Brand, because it actually takes less per cup.

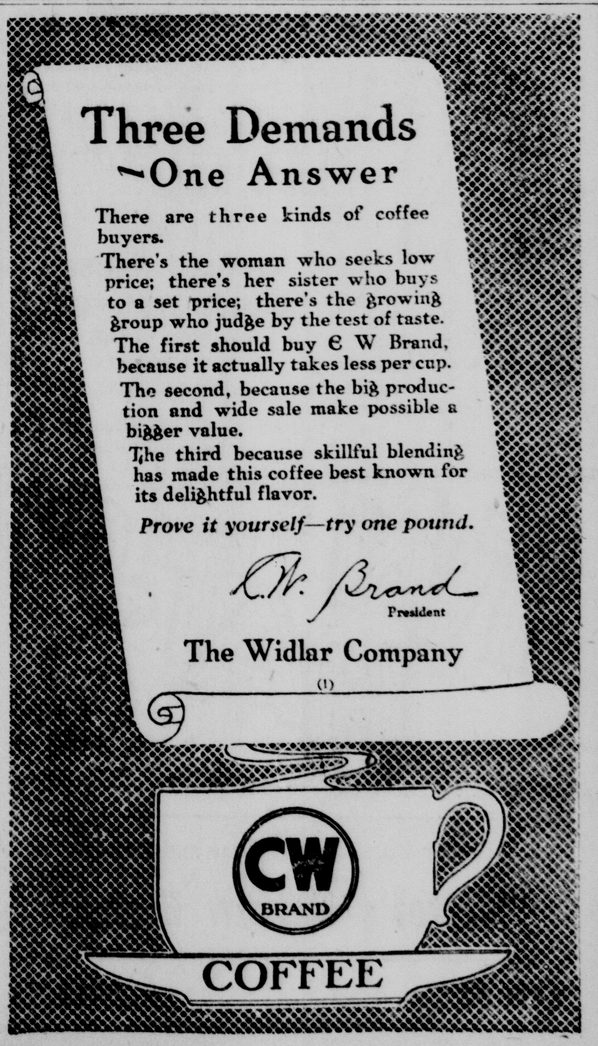

The second, because the big production and wide sale make possible a bigger value.

The third because skillful blending has made this coffee best known for its delightful flavor.

Prove it yourself—try one pound.

Excellent Report Of Neighborhood House

Progress Of Work Of Various Classes And Activities Of Boys Given

Excellent reports of the work being done at the Neighborhood House on Sciota street under the supervision of the superintendent, Miss Christine Butler were outstanding features of the meeting of the Americanization committee at the institution yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. T. W. Phillips, presiding.

Progress of the work of the classes and Boys' work under the direction of Guy Zimmerman was given; also the many entertainments and parties held for the enjoyment of the boys and girls during the Christmas season.

The report given by Miss Anna Aiken, teacher of the English class for women was of especially high standing. Several of the women are studying for Citizenship papers; a number have already gotten them.

Guy Zimmerman, leader of Boys work reported that 25 of the boys attend the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday afternoon. An average of 49 boys have been at the Neighborhood House at the Club meetings. A basketball team has been organized.

Miss Butler gave an account of the Christmas work, which is one of the happiest efforts of the year. Gifts of toys and books were received to the number of 150 sent by The Reading Circle, Business Girls' Club, Art Club, Robert Love and First Presbyterian Bible school and Loyal Legion of which Mrs. Hawk is leader. The orchestra supervised by Miss Carolyn Haney was given gifts by the Art Club. Sixty children from 6 to 9 years of age were entertained at the High School by the Girl Reserves. One hundred and two attend Sunday school. The Girl Reserves, numbering 24 were entertained by Miss Allison. Miss Mary and Joyce Wilson. Eight women constitute the Bible class taught by Mrs. Balph. In the English class taught by Miss Aiken there are 13 women.

Girls sewing classes in which there are 43 are supervised by Miss Woodworth, Mrs. Wallace and Miss Glenn of the Naomi Circle, Missionary sections of the First Baptist church and Miss Mary Hainer of Epworth M. E. church.

An entertainment was given during the Christmas season for the smaller children.

55 in number by Mrs. W. C. Stewart and Mrs. Walter Nelson.

The committee was glad to receive a piano from the Crawford heirs which will be used by the music classes.

Members of the Board wish to thank all those who have given books for the library.

Many persons act as if they would rather be without money than to get the reputation of being tightwads.

LATE NEWS BIG ORGAN

Uncle Sam's Actuary Radiates Figures Into Sparkling Facts

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—Joseph S. McCoy is government actuary. He deals in statistics.

There are plenty of other government statisticians. All the departments have them. The army and navy departments can tell, on an average, just how much damage is done by a given number of pounds of high explosives. The agriculture department has volumes of statistics and reports on weather. The census bureau wallows in statistical comparisons. The labor department compiles them by the ream.

Oh, yes, there are plenty of statisticians in Washington, but there's only one Joseph S. McCoy.

A statistician is supposed to be a dry-as-dust old duck—a creature of charts, with curves and zig-zag lines. He's supposed to know nothing but figures—to see nothing but what he's worked out mathematically.

How utterly unlike any such conception is Joseph S. McCoy.

His surroundings are according to Hoyle, to be sure. He has a dim, rank dungeon in the bowels of the Treasury Building. It's a moldy, gloomy hole—an ideal place in which to look for a treasury actuary.

And then you see J..S. McCoy. The dungeon lights up immediately. With McCoy inside it, no place could look grim and drear.

He's oldish, that's a fact. He has to be, to have assimilated as many figures as he has. Right there his resemblance to the conventional statistician ends. He probably is the jolliest-looking, white-mustached old gentleman in Washington.

You ask for some statistics and you get 'em, but statistics served in the funniest form you ever beheld. They don't suggest statistics at all.

The idea is, McCoy mixes his figures with imagination. He doesn't mix 'em with fiction. He deals only with facts, but he shows imagination in the way he combines them.

Figures are his raw material. His product is romance.

I called on him the other day in connection with a query concerning post-war finances — international debts, money market control, problems of exchange and the shape that current banking developments are likely to take.

"Well, you see," replied the veteran actuary, "you can't look far into the future without glancing back into the past."

And he glanced straightway back to the time of the earlier Crusades.

Then, it appears, was when the international financier got his real start.

There were some dabblers in the business in really ancient times, but the Crusaders were the folk who had to float the first sure-enough war loans.

From the Crusades, McCoy proceeded on down through history, hitting the financial high spots here and there, to the Battle of Waterloo, when the Rothschilds made their initial big killing.

Jumping then to the United States, he sketched America's banking and commercial career to date.

On this foundation he built the superstructure of his prediction for the future.

What it was is neither here nor there, further than that it was optimistic, as might be expected from so cheerful a statistician as Joseph S. McCoy. The point is that there are mighty few actuaries who can compile a set of figures as thick as Webster's Unabridged and reel 'em off in the form of the most exciting kind of a story book, dating from the days of Richard the Lion Hearted to collection of the last war debt outstanding in favor of the United States.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin", Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

Use Of Candle Light Common In Sections Of New York City

THREE
By ARTHUR WIMER,
(New York Correspondent New Castle News)

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—New York is a city of modern wonders. Of skyscrapers. Of subways. Of fifty thousand taxies. Of elevated railways. Of hurrying throngs. Of Wall Street. New York is a city of [illegible]. And yet in the commercial life of New York a commodity of pre-historic man, one long ago abandoned by civilization, plays an important role—the candle.

Candlelight, not for decorative purpose, but through necessity, is still an important factor in the industrial activities of lower Manhattan. The age of electricity and modern household fittings has passed by a section of the metropolis.

On the lower East Side and down in the Brooklyn Bridge district are hundreds of mammoth buildings, some of them dating back nearly a century, which have never been outfitted with gas or electricity. They have become, either through location or arrangement, almost invaluable for commercial purposes, but the low rentals obtained for them in their present condition preclude any great reconditioning. So the vicious circle has existed for many years.

Many of these old structures, particularly basements and cellars, are used for tenements and for local headquarters of coal and ice dealers. Here candles are more simple and are said to be preferred to oil lamps.

In many of the warehouses and storehouses of lower Manhattan candles are much in use. They are better and more convenient where the constant shifting of merchandise makes stationary lights something of a problem. The interior of these long, high-ceilinged buildings presents a picture reminiscent of long ago. Hundreds of tall candles flicker day and night within every structure — their flames throwing a shadowy softness over the great piles of merchandise, the workmen, and the huge wooden beams overhead vanishing into the gloom of the high eaves.

In the tenement districts of the lower East Side candles as the only means of illumination are not at all uncommon. Many of the apartment houses erected years ago have never been equipped with modern gas or electric conveniences, and here the tenants prefer to resort to the candle rather than to oil lamps. The candle, they say, is cheaper, requires less care, and affords a satisfactory light for their few needs.

New Minister At Plaingrove Church Given Reception

Rev. Thos. Dickenson And Family Honored By Congregation And Friends

Rev. Thomas Dickenson who assumed the pastorate of the Plaingrove Presbyterian church about two weeks ago, succeeding Rev. C. O. Anderson who accepted a call to the Presbyterian church at Cherry Tree, Pa., his wife and family, were honored at a reception at the Plaingrove church, on Tuesday evening.

The congregation was well represented, more than 150 being present.

A splendid program was carried out with Charles Brenneman acting as chairman. Music by the Plaingrove orchestra directed by Mrs. Sara Stevenson and a piano solo, by Mr. Hill of New Castle, member of the High School faculty of Plaingrove were especially well received. The address of welcome to the new pastor and family was given by Howard Pisor. A vocal solo by Mr. Klingensmith and a recitation by Margaret Offutt were given.

A pleasing talk was made by Rev. J. E. Hughes of the Plaingrove United Presbyterian church. Following his talk a vocal number was given by DuWayne Shaw and a recitation by Vera Pisor.

Prof. Walter, principal of the Plaingrove High school put on a "Minstrel Show" consisting of songs, readings and comic stories. Mr. Walter is gifted in the art of entertainment and kept the audience in a continued roar of laughter.

Dr. C. S. Shoaf welcomed the minister and his family to the community. Rev. Dickenson responded in a fitting manner.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the social committees of the Bible classes.

REPORT OF RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

Local Chapter Makes Report Of Work Done In November And December

Activities of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, for the months of November and December are reported as follows:

The Christmas season has again come and gone and although our demands for relief were not as many as in former years still there were enough to keep us busy. Through the cooperation of the Elks club and various interested individuals, we were able to make the season a merry one to many.

In the home service or civilian relief department there were 20 new or reopened cases come to our attention and seven cases were closed. Thirty-two visits were made, 92 letters, telegrams and affidavits were sent and 73 letters and telegrams received. There were 103 office interviews. Grocery orders were sent to four families, a load of coal to one family, lodging and meals furnished a "stranded ex-service man" for two days, furnished transportation to Franklin to one family, filed claim for compensation for three men, had one disabled ex-service man hospitalized, assisted one in having his compensation re-instated, made the necessary arrangements to have a disabled man taken care of by a local physician and made an investigation visit to a family in order to assist them in having a member of their family discharged from the service. Relief was given in the amount of $113.25.

In the life saying department 223 beginners and swimmers passed the test at the Ben Franklin junior high under the direction of the instructor, Edward Geasa.

During these two months Miss Reed has been very busy with her school work, together with some visiting nurse work. There were 27 medical visits made, 45 visits were made to classrooms, 128 home visits were made, 115 classroom inspections made, 40 pupils partially inspected by nurse, 40 children had defects corrected, 2 were excluded for pediculosis, 5 classroom talks were given. The baby clinic at Bessemer was discontinued during winter months.

Beginning in January we are to make the physical examinations, with the assistance of a doctor, of the children in all the parochial schools of the city. This work seemed to meet with the hearty approval of all the priests and sisters and we are very glad indeed to be able to serve them in this capacity. One more county school has been allotted us, Mt. Jackson.

During December plans were made for the county roll call and Charles R. Davis was named chairman of the 10th roll call. To date very few returns were made, but we are hoping that during the month more will be heard from and we will be able to say our 10th roll call was a success.

Receipts, $1159.84.
Disbursements, $1905.29.

REAL FUR BURGLAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Agents Macabee and Veitenheimer grasped their revolvers and searchlights and searched the basement of J. L. Prouty's Sons, fur dealers, for a burglar. Under the light, a fur on the table got up and walked away. It was Blackie, the manager's pet racoon, who has accidentally stumbled on the burglar alarm.

The appreciation of foreign music in Japan is growing and this has naturally created a demand for American and European musical instruments.

Noah And The Ark Theme Of Discourse At First Baptist

Rev. Morris Used The Story As Type Of Salvation Through Faith In Christ

Interest is growing in the services being conducted by Evangelist Mel Morris at the First Baptist church, as is evidenced by the increased attendance from night to night. Last night the sermon more than measured up to the unusually high standard of sermonic excellence which has characterized Mr. Morris' deliverances thus far. He spoke upon Noah and the Ark, using the story as a type of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

The evangelist prefaced his sermon by briefly introducing evidence from geology, archaeology and tradition which conclusively establishes the historicity of the story of the flood. He then showed how Noah was saved as any sinner must be saved, i. e., by the grace of God through the obedience to faith. "The faith of Noah", he asserted, "is all the more wonderful when we realize that he had no similar experience upon which to rest it, as there had never been a flood prior to that time. 'We can imagine", said the speaker, "how the antedeluvian peoples made Noah and his boat the object of their ridicule and scorn; even as many a faithful preacher in this day is laughed at as he warns men to flee from the the wrath to come".

Evangelist Morris spoke forcefully against the worldliness which exists in the church when he told how Noah and his family were separated from the perishing world as God shut them in the ark. "The Christian should live a separated life in the midst of this wicked world", declared the preacher. "Noah's life was so consistent that he won his own family to the faith and they entered the ark with him; a thing which would never have taken place if he had dabbled in the sins of the people round about", argued the speaker.

The evangelist brought the message to a close by giving one of the most graphic word pictures of the coming of the flood that has been heard in the local pulpit. The audience listened breathlessly as the speaker in rhetorical and oratorical splendor depicted the gathering clouds, the beginning of the rainfall, the rising of the waters, the fleeing and terrified multitudes, the breaking up of the rivers and seas, and the final engulfing of the world in one great ocean; and all the while the ark peacefully riding upon the crest of the destroying waves. "The antedeluvians perished", said Mr. Morris, "because they doubted the coming flood; even as many today are being lost because they doubt God's coming judgment upon the sinner".

A male quartette from the Colored Jubilee Singers, who were in town for a program, sang several negro spirituals, to the great delight of the audience. Another feature of the evening was a family quartette, sung by John W. Owens and his daughter, Elizabeth, and D. S. Williams and his daughter, Elizabeth. Prayer was offered by Rev. H. W. Lambert.

Harry V. Caven won first prize for having the largest family present, while the second prize went to Clarence Allison. The prizes consisted of books.

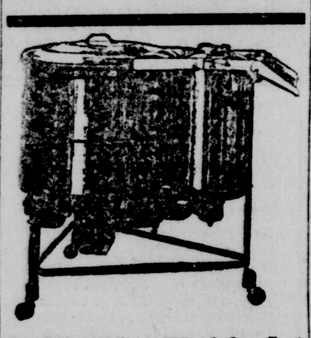

Tonight is Woman's missionary Night. A portion of the room will be reserved for the ladies of the mission circles. Mr. Morris will speak on "Mrs. Cain Up-to-Date". Tomorrow night he will give a chalk talk on the plan of salvation. Mr. Morris is gifted with the crayons and his chalk talks always draw large crowds.

Cottage prayer meetings will be held Friday afternoon at two in the following homes: Mrs. H. A. Sturdy, 712 North Mercer street; led by Mr. Landis, and L. F. Copper, 1040 Maryland avenue, led by Mr. Morris.

Mae Murray, possessor of the screen's most famous pair of "bee-stung" lips, is worried -really quite seriously. Having severed her connections with Metro Goldwyn Mayer, she can't decide for whom she wants to work. Three companies are said to be bidding for her services and one producer hopes to get her signature to a contract calling for three pictures annually, at a salary of $700,000 and 25 per cent of the profits.

Kelly Returns To Old Haunts

Thomas Kelly who has been a familiar figure at the old Lawrence County Home for the past eight years has just returned from a visit with his sister in Chicago where he hes been since last September.

Last Labor day Kelly was persuaded by his sister who was visiting in New Castle to go home to Chicago with her for a visit. He reports a very enjoyable time but is glad to get back to where he considers his home. He finds the new building very much different from the old building and knows it will be much more pleasant than the other location.

Kelly who is now about 68 years old has been with the county for nearly eight years. He has been one of the best and most helpful of all the men there as he has done a lot of work about the grounds, looking after the lawn and fences etc.

One Year Ago

Nearly 100 men were entomed by an explosion in a coal mine near Wilburton, Okla.

Already a considerable number of foot-loose Free-booters of Frolic have felt the urge to yield—and have done so to the extent of signing up for the

Nearly 200,000 Civil War Widows To Get Pension Increases

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of the News.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—Increases in pensions for 195,000 Civil war widows, amounting to $46,800,000 the first year, are provided for in bills reported favorably by committees of both houses of congress, and viewed with favor by overwhelming majorities in congress.

Besides this general bill which would provide pensions of $50 a month for every widow who was married to a soldier or veteran of the Civil war prior to June 27, 1905, the largest omnibus pension bill in history has just been reported favorably by the house of representatives committee in invalid pensions.

This huge bill provides pensions or increases in pensions for some 1,400 Civil war veterans, widows and helpless children of Civil war veterans. The largest ever recommended by the committee before provided relief for about 1,000 pensioners. The three omnibus pension bills passed by the first session of the 69th congress benefited some 2,500 pensioners.

Oldest Widow is 105.

The oldest widow for whom a pension increase is provided by the omnibus bill is 105 years old. Seventy per cent of the widows included in the omnibus bill were married shortly after their husbands were discharged from service in the Civil war, and 80 per cent of them are very old, all of them so helpless that they require the constant aid and attention of another person.

But these 1,400 private pension bills reported by the committee are less than a fourth of the total bills introduced for aged, invalid and poverty-stricken pensioners. There are now more than 6,000 such bills pending before the committee, introduced in most instances for the relief of poor, sick, crippled and destitute widows of Civil war veterans.

The omnibus bill is expected to pass without much difficulty, but this will be only a partial relief for the thousands whose cases indicate that they are in dire need of relief, the committee feels.

It is impossible for the committee even to investigate all the cases brought before it in special bills. There is only one examiner employed by the committee, and he cannot possibly investigate all cases.

Because the committee realizes the injustice of this procedure, Representative William T. Swoppe of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on invalid pensions, says:

An Emergency Measure.

"The committee realizes that there is a universal demand for economy in government expenses and of keeping appropriations down to the lowest possible amount consistent with efficient administration of the affairs of the government. At the same time the committee realizes that this is an emergency measure and should be promptly passed in fulfillment of the obligation which the nation owes to the old veterans whose heroic services and sacrifices in the nation's defense made forever secure the union of the states and the perpetuity of the republic.

"The average age of these widows is about 76 years. Thousands of them have little or nothing to live on except the meager pension of $30 per month that they are now receiving, and they are all too old to work and many thousands of them are suffering from the ravages of old age and disease.

"Nearly 2,000 of them are dying monthly, and whatever is done for them to help brighten their pathways and lighten their loads in their last days must be done very soon, if done at all."

The act of July 3, 1926, granted $50 a month to widows and remarried widows of Civil war veterans who had been the wives of such soldiers, sailors, or marines during the period of their service during the war.

Over 21,000 Receive.

More than 21,000 widows have received pension increases under this act, and the total will probably reach 26,000 or 27,000 when the cases are adjusted. While this was a just measure so far as it went, the widows who were married after the war, raised the families of the soldiers and nursed them through life, were just as deserving as the ones who were pensioned under the act of July 3, 1926, Representative Swoope declares.

Unless parliamentary procedure prevents its being considered on the floor of congress, it is most likely that this bill will pass allowing $50 a month to all Civil war widows who were married to soldiers of the Civil war before June 27, 1905.

Undes the present law, no pension is granted except by special act to widows of Civil war veterans who were married after this date. All except those covered by the act of July 3, 1926, and except those for whose benefit special bills have been passed now receive $30 a month.

This is expected to be the only pension legislation passed during this session of congress. Increases in pensions were granted to veterans of all wars except the Indian wars during the first session of the 69th congress, and the committee on pensions, which handles all but Civil war pensions, does not plan to report any pension bills this session.

One Other Bill.

One other pension bill, introduced by Representative Richard N. Elliott of Indiana, who also introduced the widows' general increase bill, may be considered. The bill provides that all pensioners who, while in the military or naval service of the United States and in line of duty, lost one hand or one foot, shall receive $80 a month, instead of $65 as at present, and all who lost an arm above the elbow or a leg below the knee shall receive $90 a month instead of $75 as at present.

This bill would also be applicable to those who were totally disabled in a hand, a foot, an arm or a leg. It would further allow those who have lost limbs to receive from the government a case allowance for an artificial limb instead of the artificial limb provided by the office of the surgeon general of the United States.

There is some doubt that this bill will be passed, although it has been favorably reported by the committee on invalid pensions of the house of representatives.

The bill to increase the pensions of widows, however, has the hearty support of congressmen, who every session are faced with seeing some of their very deserving cases fail to be recommended by the committee on invalid pensions for the reason that the committee's one examiner is unable to complete investigation of their cases, or for the arbitrary reason that only a certain limited number can be passed by the house of representatives.

While the passage of this bill would obviously cost considerable money for a few years, it would save an enormous amount of work on the part of congress, it would provide relief for all on an even basis, and its cost would naturally diminish every year, with its beneficiaries dying off at the rate of some 2,000 a month. A hundred months and the last of them would be gone.

Piety isn't everything. The world would be good without human beings, but it would be rather dull.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Preparing For Exams; Bessemer School News

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Jan. 13.—Concentration; we need it, but do we have it. 'Tis the week before exams and even the most carefree are beginning to doubt the advisability of letting things slide. Six week exams have been bad enough but they are nothing compared to the horrors of the semester exams. Only the good and faithful are breathing easily.

According to the old adage "It never rains but it pours," so how can one really concentrate on school work when there are such a host of other things going on around about. Winter sports, sled-riding and skating are still at their best, basketball is more interesting than ever, and even banquets come trailing along to beckon one away from work.

On Thursday, January 6, at 10 a. m. the Bessemer high school assembled in the auditorium for the first group meeting of the new year.

Mr. Martin was in charge of the program. An oration was delivered in memory of our great American, Theodore Roosevelt. An original paper was read and the orchestra played several pieces. Mr. Green, president of the Bessemer bank, gave a talk on the subject of Thrift. He pointed out how thrift would be of benefit to the students not only at the present time but also in later years.

Miss Keys will have charge of the next program.

On Wednesday the faculty of the Bessemer high school spent an enjoyable evening at the Lawrence county high school teachers' banquet. This banquet was held in the Elks' club building at New Castle.

Wednesday evening the Bessemer Pirates played the Excelsior team of North Lima. Although the Pirates lost their first game, which was with Mahoningtown, they have been doing much better since then. The game with Berlin Center and with Struthers were both victories for Bessemer.

The game Friday night will be played on the Bessemer floor. The game is between the Bessemer boys varsity and the Benjamin Franklin team.

Tuesday afternoon activities still play a large part in the school life. Bessemer is very proud of her orchestra club. It was invited to New Castle last Wednesday to play before a large gathering of county school directors. During an intermission the members of the club had the opportunity of going through the county jail. We are glad to say that they all got out again.

Members of the history club are studying "A School History of the Great World War." This club has an interesting program each week.

The weekly meeting of the dramatic club proved to be an unusual one. Titles were given out. Each pupil was to choose his subject and with that as a beginning he is to work up a play. Scenes are to be arranged, characters created and a plot worked out. On account of semester examinations and preparations for the literary contest the play on which they have been working will be delayed for several weeks.

The Girl Scouts were busy this week in working out their scout tests. It is the ambition of every member to become a full fledged scout.

The cooking club, which is supervised by Miss McLaughlin, spent the hour in making doughnuts. Each girl had a separate duty to perform. The members were very much interested for this was the first meeting they had prepared anything except candy.

The Boy Scouts held their regular meeting in room No. 2. The meeting was called together and the opening exercises were carried on as usual. During the hour many interesting and instructive reports were given. How to cut a log and fell a tree, water hints, tent making made easy, campfire stunts, and leadership were only a few of the interesting topics.

The science club, directed by Mr. Winters, still keeps on with its scientific experiments. At the present time they are setting up an apparatus called a vibograph. In the near future they hope to be able to install a radio.

The boys' "gym" club continues with its wrestling and boxing matches. Health and strength is their aim. A sound body as well as a good mind is always a wholesome ambition.

The Journalism club has in mind another number of the school paper. At the last meeting they began work on the editorials. Part of each period is spent in writing up the news column for the New Castle News.

The girls of the sewing school, which is under the leadership of Miss Dite, are planning to go for a sleighing party sometime this week. They are certain to have a good time. Old Mr. Sun is threatening to do away with his enemy Mr. Snow, but while snow continues to exist the girls are determined to have at least one more good coasting party.

State Farm Show To Break Records

Will Be Staged In Harrisburg Next Week—Expect Some 5,000 Entries

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.—Pennsylvania's largest farm products show to be held in Harrisburg next week, January 18, 19, 20 and 21, is now in the making. Show guidings are being cleared and booths, stalls and exhibit backgrounds arranged. The show will cover over 120,000 square feet of floor space which Manager H. E. Klugh says exceeds any previous show by at least 20,000 square feet.

In addition to the exhibit space 15 meeting places including halls, and auditoriums located convenient to the show buildings hav been reserved for the 25 farm organization conventions.

Reports from county agricultural agents in all parts of the state indicate greater interest in both exhibiting farm products and in attendance than ever before. Many farm groups will come to Harrisburg Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning to attend the inaugural eremonies Tuesday noon and will remain for the farm meting and show Wednesday and Thursday.

While Harrisburg will be crowded ample room facilities will be available throughout the week Mr. Klugh reports. In order to take care of the last minute demand for rooms a special housing office will be arranged by the Harrisburg chamber of commerce in connection with the show headquarters in the Emerson-Brantingham building at Tenth and Market streets.

Superintendents of the various exhibits at the show are making preparations for a greater number of entries than last year when the number of exhibits totaled 4,320. Entries in the poultry closed on January 6 and the number exceeds last year's total by at least 160 birds Superintendent L. B. Munroe reports.

Nickels Important Cog In New York Business

By ARTHUR WIMER
New York Correspondent, New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Nineteen hundred and twenty-six was a year of sad dreams and calamities for champions in the United States but untouched by the march of events which ruthlessly swept many celebrities from their pedestals, New York entered the new year still holding the probably undisputed title of foremost nickel-grabbing city in the world. For here nickel-grabbing has become an art to be studiously studied and constantly practiced—practiced under the pressure of necessity for the sake of spending and not of saving.

In New York the nickel has become more glorified than the five-dollar gold piece, the Stone Mountain half-dollar. It is the "open sesame" to subway and elevated railway turnstiles. It is the mystic symbol that brings the voice of "operator" into any telephone booth. It is the magic charm that produces the hurried lunch in automat restaurants where food is to be had via the nickel-in-the-slot process.

Luckless is the possesor of a lone $20 bill if he wishes to travel quickly by subway at certain hours of the day and evening. A lone nickel would serve him better than his goldback. For he may waste $20 worth of time standing in line waiting for change, where his humble nickel would be the talisman of speedy, unimpeded progress.

The weary nickel-grabber in New York does not grab to save but to spend. His fondest wish that there be more nickels to be more easily had, has its inspiration, not in a sense of economy, but in the realization that where the nickel is in New York there speed and efficiency are also. He has dreamed of street slot machines ready at any time to make nickels out of coins of larger denomination. He has suggested laws requiring that nickels in change be given in all transactions more than four cents. But these have been only dreams. And nickel-grabbing continues to be a science and an art.

In cigar stores where there are telephone booths, nickel-grabbing may be studied in all its intricate veins. Only a small number of those persons who frequent the booths, according to the men behind the counters, possess the necessary five-cent piece for the call, and their lack keeps business from ever growing dull. Some assume a lordly air and demand two nickels for a dime from the cigar clerk. Others prefer to make a small purchase with the hope of receiving nickels in change. Many send in their small children to request the desired coin.

Anyone near a telephone booth may become the unwilling participant in the nickel trade. It may be the casual passerby; it may the corner news stand. Or it may be the automat restaurant which has always a generous supply of nickels for patrons. Many and numerous are the ingenious methods by which the coveted five-cent piece is acquired.

The New Yorker does not like to part with his nickel. With a five-cent piece in his pocket he will pay for his paper with a $5 bill rather than to lose possession of the magic coin. Having a reserve fund of nickels on hand is a prerequisite of the true resident of Manhattan.

A treaty has been signed between Cuba and Mexico, providing for connecting the telegraph systems of the two countries by wireless and instituting a system of transmission for public and private purposes.

MAYOR FINES CHIEF TWICE WITHIN YEAR

WELLSVILLE, O., Jan. 13.—Mayor W. L. Fogo's second removal within a year of John H. Fultz, from the office of chief of police, was sustained here by the civil service commission. Fultz was held guilty of charges of conduct unbecoming an officer, disrespect and disobedience to a superior.

The deposed chief, who was reinstated in the first suspension after carrying the fight through the Columbiana county common pleas and appellate courts announced that he would appeal the second case to the courts.

The mayor and ousted police department head have been the chief figures in a controversy here since Fogo assumed office January 1, 1926.

Women To Become Great Musicians Says Conductor, Urging Them On

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 13.—Although the new year has brought no son to carry on his ingenious baton, but a second daughter, Dr. Arthur Rodzinski, new assitant conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra, feels no disappointment. Recently arrived from Europe he is one of the few champions of women in every field of Europe, conducting, composing and performing.

"It makes no difference; there are no rules; women surely can be just as great artists as men," he says.

"What does it matter? Boy? Girl? If they have talent or genius they are all the same. Great women composers? Let me think. No, I suppose there is none as great as Bach of Beethoven, but look at Liszt's daughter, Cosima, who married Wagner. She was a great artist.

"And performers there are without end. This week we have Wanda Landowska the harpsichordist. Two weeks ago Ruth Breton the violinist. Oh, there are very many.

No Rules for Talent.

"You ask me whether musical talent is inherited. Again there are no rules. If there are ask a physician, not a musician. Yes, I think it is transmited. Most musical fathers have musical children. But a safer rule is that most great musicians have many. Look at Bach, he had 18 I think.

Dr. Rodzinski has a beautiful 8-year-old boy of his own, Witold who is now in Europe studying piano and violin and in whom the young conductor hopes to see a great conductor some day.

"How can you tell?" he asks. "Sometimes at three you can see the genius of a child. If he is physically and nervously fit he can then go on the stage to do solo work; if not do not let him. Certainly I think musical education is as important as any other kind. When a child is taught to read and write he should be taught to appreciate music. Not made to study it, no, because practicing the piano cannot make a musician.

Wants Child a Musician.

"Certainly I want my child to be a musician because music is my profession. All day I work and work with scores. Surely there is great American music—great music is great no matter from what country it comes.

"I was born in Spolato, Dalmatia. Then I studied law in Vienna but soon turned to music. I found Vienna the most perfect city in Europe in which to write music. Yes it is better than Paris. Both Strauss', Shubert and many others wrote in Vienna. I conducted the opera in Warsaw. Polish composers? Surely Chopin is enough."

Since coming as the assitant to Dr. Leopold Stokowski, conductor, Dr. Rodzinski has formed two other conclusions—he doesn't like Philadelphia's climate and New York is the greatest city in the world, but too noisy.

Open the Oven Door Ere Lighting the Gas

Always open the oven door before lighting the oven burner in order to prevent accidents, advises C. B. Scott, past president of the National Safety Council. Explosions caused by accumulation of gas and air in the oven have occurred as a result of failure to carry out this suggestion. Most modern ranges are so constructed that it is impossible to light the burner without opening the oven door but there are thousands still in use without this feature. Always apply the lighted match before turning on the gas.

Stiff Schedule For Westminster

Three Hard Foes To Be Faced On Floor Within Eight Days Time

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 13.—If any man has the right to die from palpitation of the heart, that man is John Lawther, coach of the Westminster College basketball team. When he glances at the schedule he finds that his team must face Thiel, Geneva, Allegheny and Bethany within eight days, the first of the engagements coming Saturday night, when Thiel is played here, and the fourth, January 22, when Bethany visits New Wilmington.

The schedule is certainly a mammoth looking affair for an inexperienced team. There is every chance that during the entire four games not one letter man from last year will be in the starting lineups. Consider this in the face of the type of opposition to be met and a realization of a few of the problems that confront Lawther will be forthcoming.

A believer in the old adage, "do not cross the bridge until it is reached", Lawther is spending his efforts at present in making ready for the invasion of the Thiel five Saturday night. On the outside this may look like the easiest game of the four, but this will not be known until all four are played. Lawther saw Thiel against Geneva and it was the Covenanters that impressed him. However, he is not forgetting the occasion at this time last year, when Thiel defeated Westminster, starting the Blue and White on a losing streak which was quite extended. Thiel has young material, but in Perotta they have a keen cage coach and his boys have been coming on rapidly. They are certain to give Westminster all the opposition desired in one evening.

Gas Almost Wrecked N. Y. Woman's Life

NEW YORK.—Mrs. G. Edling, New York business woman, says stomach gas made life a burden, but Adlerika helped her so much that she can enjoy life again. "There's nothing like it for gas and constipation," says Mrs. Edling.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Doctors Praise Adlerika

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In New Castle at Love & Megown's.

Mrs. C. B. Robertson, dean of women, and Dr. Charles Freeman, dean of men, were also in the receiving line.

STOLE SIX AUTOS SINCE JANUARY 1

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 13.—George Shannon, 16, Elm street, Masury, arrested by police yesterday afternoon, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of automobiles before Alderman Henry G. Thomas and was held for court under $2,000 bail.

Shannon, according to Police Chief Charles B. Steger, confessed stealing half a dozen cars in this city since January 1. He made no effort to dispose of the machines, but drove them to Masury or Brookfield and abandoned them. When he abandoned a machine at Brookfield last week he was seen by a girl who gave his description to police. He was placed under arrest late yesterday when he attempted to enter a locked car in Washington street.

Investigation has shown that more than 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas escapes daily from oil wells in the Panhandle area of Texas.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

WHERE WISHES COME TRUE

NOBODY SAW ME BUT THE MAN IN THE MOON AND HE LOOKED DOWN SO KINDLY UPON ME THAT I TOLD HIM MY

There was a moment when Peter felt like shaking the little girl who stood there on the ledge and laughed at him. But he didn't. He just stood there and stared at her, for besides feeling cross Peter was hurt. He had wished to do a kindness to the little girl and all he received for his pains was mockery.

And pretty soon the little girl stopped. She saw the hurt look in Peter's eyes.

"Why do you look like that?" asked she. "'Tis not at you I laugh."

"At whom, then?" demanded Peter.

"At no one. I laugh because I'm happy!" And that most amazing little girl actually began to dance upon that high ledge above the jagged rocks.

"Haven't you any sense at all?" scolded Peter. "You that only a short while ago I saw drop a crutch into the depths now behave as no lame girl should. Why did you climb away up here? How am I ever to help you down? Why were you laughing?"

The little girl leaned over until her face was almost on a level with Peter's own. But instead of answering Peter's question she asked one of him, such a strange question, thought Peter, a question that, so far as he could see, had nothing to do with the matter.

"Boy, tell me, could you but make a wish and have it granted, what most would you want to do of all the things you can think of?"

"I? Why, I don't know. Go adventuring, I guess!" answered Peter truthfully. And the little girl nodded wisely.

"That's what I wanted most, too!" cried she. "And you, wish your well body and your strong legs, could not even guess how badly I wanted it, for never had I walked like other girls, but always had I to lean upon my cane—clump, clump, clump—that's the way I used to go. And I was unhappy, for I saw all the other children running and leaping, and I wanted to do as they did. But most of all I wanted to climb a mountain, to go up and up toward the sky. And one night I stole out of the house and down into the apple orchard and lay down upon the sweet grass. And I wished, oh, so hard, that I might walk and run and climb and throw away my cane. Nobody saw me but the Man in the Moon, and he looked down so kindly upon me that I told him my wish. And how it happened I can't tell, but he nodded at me, twice, three times, like this, and the next thing I knew I was up in the moon, in the beautiful yellow land, where all earth dreams come true."

Next: "The Man in the Moon."

DINNER STORIES

"What's the matter with Grumble and his wife? I hear there is talk of separation." "He's a fundamentalist and she's a modernist, and they always are scrapping over who is right." "I didn't know they were so interested in church doctrines." "Oh, it has nothing to do with the church. He thinks it takes skillets, pots and pans, flour and such things to get a meal, while she is just as sure that it doesn't take anything but a can opener."

"Mose," said the boss of the night shift, "you haven't been late to work since you moved. Where do you live now?"

"Fo blocks on de other side of de graveyard."

She was in a telephone booth and had just put in a toll call. She wept bitterly as she pulled down on the hook to attract Central's attention.

"Hello?" came Central's clear voice.

"H—hello," she sobbed. "I w-want my money back. Harold w-wouldn't speak to me."

"But, madam, you will have to be identified before I can cash this check for you," said the paying teller.

"Oh, I just hate to do it, and George would be dreadfully angry," she replied, blushing furiously, "but I have a love letter here which describes me fully, if you would care to see it."

FORGOT TO RETURN STOLEN CAR

CLEVELAND, O., Jan 13.—Carl Scheel, 23, lost his car near Precinct 6 police station. The theft was reported and two months later when he was about to buy a new one, his agency reported to him that the machine had been recovered. The police forgot to notify him

Coke Industry Holding Strong, Survey Reveals

Coke Production For Year 1926 Outrivals Tonnage For Year 1925

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 13.—The total estimated production of coke in this region during 1926 was 8,342,330 tons, or 947,210 tons greater than in 1925, International News Service revealed today. These figures place the aggregate value of the output at $34,954,362, or an average of $4.19 a ton at the ovens.

The figures were taken to indicate that the industry is holding its own, even under adverse conditions, active competition and growth of the by-product manufacture of coke, it being revealed that the totals were larger than at any time since 1923, and with the exception of 1923, the largest since 1920. In 1923 the production was 13,114,340 tons with a valuation of $77,304,606, while in 1920 the total was 10,750,227 tons, with an estimated valuation of $89,226,884.

Production for the first week of 1927 was 126,300 tons, a gain of 9,600 tons over the previous week. The region was still 4,300 tons under the level of the period preceding the Christmas holiday. Spot furnace coke is quoted this week at $3.40 to $3.65, with the latter figure ruling for standard grade coke. Foundry was quoted at $4.50 to $5.

END OF EXCITING ROMANCE

"He's just a nice, sweet boy," says Miss Marie Astaire, motion picture actress of Hollywood, Calif., following the collapse of her romance with Michael Cudahy, scion of the meat packing family. Marriage was forestalled by the youth's mother, Mrs. Jack Cudahy, who declared he was 19, and not 22, as he claimed, and had him arrested at Santa Barbara, Calif. Prior to young Cudahy's detention, the couple had been refused licenses at Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Ventura. Photo shows Miss Astaire at her home. Fainting after the excitement of the elopement race, she fell, hurting her chin. Inset is of Michael Cudahy.

Political Strife Continues Strong In Homestead, Pa.

Borough Councilmen Discharge All Municipal Employes; Few Hired Again

(International News Service)

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Jan. 13.—Homestead's political cauldron, which boiled over for the second time last night when councilmen opposed to Burgess John J. Cavanaugh ousted every municipal employe of the borough, and a few minutes later hired them all back with the exception of three police sergeants and three policemen, all supporters of the burgess' faction, today simmered quietly, as Cavanaugh considered his next move.

Strife between Cavanaugh and a group of borough councilmen headed by Edward Klein, president, which resulted in Cavanaugh summoning special deputies and state police to carry on a series of raids, led to last night's meeting.

Further re-arrangement of borough positions put the anti-Cavanaugh faction into almost complete control of municipal affairs.

OHIO TROLLEY LINE ABANDONS SERVICE IN CAMBRIDGE AREA

Both city and interurban lines, extending to Derwent, Pleasant City and Buffalo, will be junked. Question Four In Fatal Shooting Of Pittsburgh Man

Find Revolver Used In Fatal Shooting Hidden In Piano

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13—Investigation into the fatal shooting of George W. Lutz, 32, at his home here, today took an unexpected turn with the announcement of detectives that the revolver with which Lutz was shot to death had been found hidden in a piano in the home.

Following the discovery of the weapon, said to have been the result of a statement by Mary Jaecke, Lutz's sister-in-law, the victim's widow, Clara Lutz, 30, was taken into custody for questioning.

Mrs. Lutz, her sister and Howard Krause and Paul Toy employes in Lutz's dairy and boarders at the Lutz home, were being held today while police further investigated the shooting.

Woman's sphere at present is the one slightly flattened at the poles.

Russian Explorers Reach Gerald Island

LENINGRAD, Jan. 13.—The red flag of Soviet Russia has been planted by an exploration party on Gerald Island, in the Arctic, near Bering Straits, and the Soviet government has informed the world of its claim to sovereignty there. The expedition reported finding flags of other nations planted on the island.

Gerald Island, which lies close to American and Canadian soil, was claimed a few years ago by various nations and became an object of considerable international bickering. In 1924 the Soviet government sent notes to all nations, by which it laid claim to island and other land extending north from Siberia into the Arctic Ocean.

So far as has been discovered, Gerald is valuable now chiefly as a possible military and naval in case of hostilities. It might, however, become again a bone of contention between nations if investigations, which will probably be undertaken soon, should disclose valuable mineral deposits.

ROLLING AUTOIST ARRESTED

Dye was held under $6,000 bail on charges of larceny of automobiles and Alice Tom and Andy Diamond, companions, were sent to jail by Justice M. J. Kane in default of fines.

ANNOUNCE HIGH FOOTBALL CARD FOR NEXT FALL

Gardner Gives Out Schedule

Dayton Steele, Youngstown South, Washington Loom As Strong Foes

TEN SCHOOLS SEEK OPEN DATE

By "BUGS" WALTHER

New Castle High's 1927 gridders will play one of the hardest schedules in the history of the school. The program was made public today by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, contains several notable teams, including Dayton Steele, Youngstown South and Washington High.

It is doubtful if any other high school team in this section of the country will be called on to face a harder assignment than the one mapped out for the Red and Black team starting next September. The writer fails to find a "set-up" in the entire card. Opening up with Grove City on Saturday, Sept. 17, and continuing through until Thanksgiving Day, the locals will play a group of teams rated as A No. 1 quality.

To Play at Youngstown

The Youngstown South game, it will be seen, has been shifted to the Ohio city on the date of October 22. With New Castle playing in Youngstown in 1927, it will mean that the Youngstown team will be required to appear at the Ben Franklin High stadium in 1928.

An old-time foe, Beaver Falls, will be back again next fall. For the past two years it was the idea of the valley team to stay clear of New Castle on the gridiron, but with the Heckathorne boys runners-up for W. P. I. A. L. honors last year and supporting a fine team, it was agreed upon that the Orange and Black team would return to grid relations with the locals. Beaver Falls-New Castle have long been rivals in all manner of sports and the fans will welcome back an old friend.

Swissvale High, a Pittsburgh suburban school, is a newcomer to the schedule for next fall. The Swissvale team last season tied the strong Union High, Turtle Creek, team and established a rather enviable record. It was on the strength of their showing for the past several years that Gardner signed them to appear at the local field.

One Open Date

The schedule announced today calls for nine games with one open date that will not be filled. The Saturday just before Thanksgiving is always an open date for the high school boys and is used as a "breather", as the saying goes.

About ten schools have been approached and are ready to sign for the only open date that remains, that of November 12. The open date may be filled with any of the following teams: Erie East, Erie Central, Youngstown Rayen, Youngstown East, Meadville, Butler, Crafton, Jamestown, Peabody and Ellwood City.

It is very likely that the open date will be filled within the next few days by Mr. Gardner, who is busily engaged with the matter at the present time.

In signing Dayton Steele to appear here the locals are tackling one of the best teams in the state of Ohio, as far as records for the past several years are concerned. There are two fine teams in Dayton, Stivers and Steele, and it is generally recognized that Steele is the stronger of the two.

Washington High, champions of the W. P. I. A. L. this year, will undoubtedly be strong next year. The Washington team will lose but three men from their 1926 squad and they are looking forward to a better combination for next year. It is understood that the Washington team was signed with a two-year contract on a home-and-home basis. New Castle will likely go to Washington for a game in 1928.

Following is the football schedule for next fall:

Sept. 17—Grove City at New Castle.
Sept. 24—Franklin at New Castle.
Oct. 1—Mars at New Castle.
Octo. 8—Donora at New Castle.
Oct. 15—Dayton Steele at New Castle.
Oct. 22—Youngstown South at Youngstown.
Oct. 29—Beaver Falls at New Castle.
Nov. 5—Swissvale at New Castle.
Nov. 12—(Pending).
Nov. 19—Permanently open.
Nov. 24—Washington High at New Castle.

High Teams To Play At Mars

New Castle High Floor Teams To Journey To Mars Friday Night

GIRLS TO PLAY IN PRELIMINARY

The New Castle high school floor team members of section IV of the W. P. I. A. L. will travel to Mars on Friday night for their second game of the league competition. The New Castle high girls will play the Mars girls in the preliminary.

Coach Bridenbaugh sent the team through a long drill Wednesday night at the senior high gym and expressed himself as being confident that the Red and Black tossers would show up rather strong in their battle with the Mars combination. The Mars team this year is practically the same aggregation that carried on so successfully last year and Coach Hudson is drilling them especially for a victory over the New Castle crew.

The locals are regarded as one of the strongest teams in the circuit and a win over New Castle will be a big feather for Mars. Mars high lost to Ellwood City 20 to 17 in their opening game as a league team. The local downed Evans City 32 to 16 in the lid lifter here.

The New Castle high girls after their defeat at the hands of Beaver Falls high on Tuesday night will return to the court tomorrow night imbued with the spirit of regaining lost ground. The locals have a flashy combination this year and they look mighty good to establish an enviable record.

Buccaneers Top Wampum Cubs

The New Castle Buccaneers journeyed to Wampum on Tuesday night and defeated the Wampum Cubs by a score of 31 to 20 in a preilminary game to the Wampum Indies-Nonpariel club battle.

The locals jumped into an early lead and at half time were leading their opponents by a score of 20 to 14. In the third and fourth periods the locals gained eleven more points and help the Cubs to six.

Wallace, McClymonds and W. Kroen were the big guns for the locals with three or more field goals. For the Wampum Cubs the playing of Gaffney and DeMarks featured.

The lineup and summary:

Wampum Cubs 20		Buccaneers 31
Boone	F	Wallace
Gaffney	F	McClymonds
DeMarks	C	Clark
Allen	G	W. Kroen
Hannon	G	Woodworth

Sub—Ferrucci.

Field goals—Boone 2, Gaffney 2, DeMarks 3, Ferrucci, Walace 4, McClymonds 3, W. Kroen 3, Woodworth 2, Clark.

Woz Was Wizz Winning "Wictories"

By NORMAN E. BROWN

There may be some reason for arguing over the selection of the champion batter of the National League, but anyone who tries to start an afternoon's powwow over the question as to who led that circuit in pitching will find himself barking up an empty vinegar barrel.

For Ray "Woz" Kremer, Pittsburgh right-hander, won the honor hands down, or up, as a pitcher should have them.

Kremer, in winning 20 games and losing but six for the Pittsburgh team, not only set the pace in the percentage of games won and lost (an average of .759) but he also led the league in effective hurling by allowing an average of but 2.61 earned runs per game.

Flint Rhem of the Cards, Pete Donohue of the Reds, and Lee Meadows, Kremer's teammate, each won 20 games for the season, but Rhem was nicked seven times. Donohue 14 and Meadows nine.

The same official records show that Jess Petty, left-hander, had an unusual year with the Dodgers. He wound up the season with an even break—17 games won and a like number lost. He ranked 18th in winning averages. But he ranked third in effectiveness, with an average of but 2.84 runs a game charged against him. Charlie Root also stood between Petty and Kremer. Root's average was just .02 less.

Had Yde, Aldridge and Morrison or two of those birds come through as did Meadows and Kremer, the St. Louis Cardinals might not have won two flags in the same year they disposed of Rogers Hornsby. They ranked well down in the list for effectiveness.

Kremer's effectiveness was not based on his ability to get 'em by the batters. He ranked 12th in strikeouts. Pitchers with much poorer records, generally weighed, turned in bigger lists of strikeout victims. He did, however, keep 'em over the plate. There were 29 hurlers who permitted more bases on balls than he did. Kremer allowed just 51 passes. Blake of the Cubs, wild man of the league, allowed 92.

Local Fighters Have Been Beaten By Lefts

Frush, Kramer, Kaplan, Sparks And Brock Have Turned Trick

Picato, Perotta, Weygant And Cangie Among Few Defeated

By ED. FRITZ

Fighters with good left hands have done considerable toward removing New Castle fighters from the regions known as Reputationville. The proof of this is noticed in the account of the Kaplan-Cangie fight, battles in which Eddie Weygant lost to Danny Frush and Danny Kramer, George Perotta to Speedy Sparks and Mog Pugh to Rosey Stoy—and perhaps battles in which other local ring celebrities participated.

The Kid Kaplan-Kid Cangie fight, which took place at Rochester, N. Y., bears a striking similarity to the Eddie Weygant-Danny Frush battle at Martins Ferry. While it is true that inexperience had more than a teaspoonful to do with their defeats, the fact remains that smashing lefts brought the local warriors down.

Cangie fought a tough bird and a good fighter in this lad Kaplan, who, by the way, is not only a cagey individual, but a mauling, hauling, terrific puncher. He took all the fight (for a time) from Danny Kramer in the featherweight eliminations at New York, then defended his featherweight crown until he grew into a lightweight.

Kaplan sauntered into the ring against Billy Wallace and was knocked cuckoo, but that had nothing to do with his fight against Cangie, who tried hard but did not win. Kaplan kept Cangie off balance, made him miss and in close quarters tied Cangie up, or else worked a two-handed battery against his midriff and jaw.

It was all part of Kaplan's cagey way of putting an antagonist in the way of a knockout. He made Cangie swing and rolled his head away from the punches and when Cangie swung for Kaplan the former featherweight champion picked out the heart and his blow dropped Cangie, face downward and senseless.

Cangie hasn't had a world of fights and he does not own a bag of craftiness. He is a rugged, eager young chap who is tough and hits good, but he was sent against a far superior fighter.

The defeat means loss of revenue temporarily, but no doubt he has learned considerable by that experience as to how he should act when mingling with topnotchers as Kaplan.

One swallow doesn't mean summer, and one defeat by such a celebrity as Kaplan doesn't mean that Cangie is through. Rather, if he has the right stuff, and we believe he has, Paris Kid Cangie will begin over again. He must grow faster, cleverer and trickier.

There was the fight, too, in which inexperience cost Eddie Weygant a victory at Martins Ferry. Eddie, at that time a mere kid, stamped right along with the Dynamite Kid until he got listless and inexperience permitted his guard to drop.

Frush Awaited Chance

Although Frush had commenced to puff and the fans were beginning to say "It looks like Weygant will win", they didn't reckon on Frush's craftiness and hitting ability. As soon as he saw Weygant's guard sag he shot a left hook to the jaw and Eddie was beaten.

Recall the fight, also in which Mog Pugh lost to Rosey Stoy. Mog did not know until the day before the fight that Rosey was a southpaw. He found it out the night of the fight. He was knocked down almost as soon as the fight started, and his attempt to combat the Blonde Tiger was pitiable, to say the least.

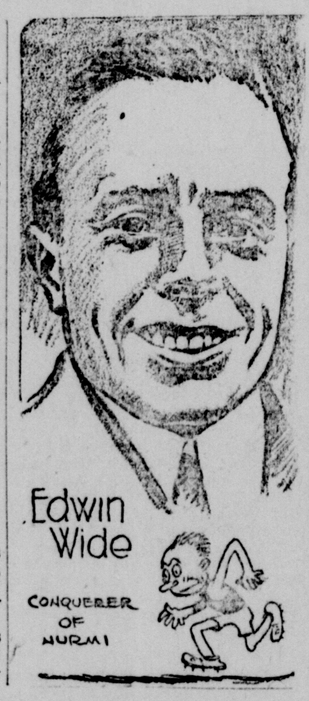

George Perotta, the middleweight, traveled to Rochester, N. Y., to become acquainted with the method that Speedy Sparks employed to win. He jabbed George with a right and within a couple of rounds he was through. He had practiced to combat a southpaw, but as we said before, perfection doesn't came in a week.

Babe Picato was warned prior to his fight with Matt Brock at Erie that Matt's hooks with his left glove would spell ruin for him unless he kept that member off his jaw. He did for nine rounds and had the fight apparently won, but he dropped his right and knocked him out with a left to the jaw.

HALL of FAME

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Nominating EDWIN WIDE, Swedish Runner

Because he defeated Paavo Nurmi, Finland's wonder runner, when "it couldn't be done."

Because, in defeating the Flying Finn Wide also won a victory over himself. He had lost two races to Nurmi previously mainly because he felt that Nurmi was invincible.

Because, when victory came he made it doubly impressive by defeating Paavo twice in one afternoon—a 1,500-metre event and a mile race, in Berlin.

Because he hopes to meet Nurmi again in Stockholm, Sweden, next summer and believes that the world's record for the mile run will fall that day.

And because he (Wide) is now in the United States, mainly to study school methods as the schoolmaster that he is, but incidentally to match his speed against American runners in one or two meets.

An army of New York boxing fans, reinforced by big contingents from Boston and other cities, doubtless will turn out on the night of January 19 for the benefit show to be staged for Sam Langford, hero of many thrilling ring battles in the old days, but who is now blind and on the verge of destitution.

HARD BLOW TO HEART DEFEATS LOCAL FIGHTER

(The following is a self-explanatory account of the Paris Cangie-Kid Kaplan fight at Rochester, N. Y., recently. Cangie was knocked out in the fourth round. The account is reproduced from the Times-Union.—Sports Editor.)

By JACK BURGESS

A short arm jolt to the region of the heart in the fourth round flattened Paris Cangey of New Castle, Pa., face downward on the mate while the referee tolled off the fatal count of ten. Over in a corner Lou Kid Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., stood with a sympathetic smile.

The blow didn't travel more than a foot, but landed with deadening effect. It was one of those wallops like the Sam Langford type. Plenty of power behind it. When it struck Cangey pitched forward on his face, unable to rise or even turn over.

Excels in Close Quarters

For three rounds Kaplan had manouvered around Cangey and punished him with terrific chops to the body and face. In the infighting Kaplan pummeled the body and ribs of Cangey until they were beef red. Meantime Cangey had been unable to plant a worthwhile sock on the Buzz Saw from Connecticut.

Kaplan is a chunky little package, lively as a cricket and with a splendid torso and a great pair of arms. He covers his face with his glove as he wades in and fights close to the floor. Short of stature, when he crouches he doesn't seem to be three feet tall and makes a hard target for a taller man to hit.

Locks Cangie's Arms

Time after time Cangey missed Kaplan by a foot. Blows aimed for Kaplan's chin went six inches over his head. He carried the battle to Cangey, never letting him get set and pasting him hard every time he came in. On infighting it was all Kaplan, who locked up Cangey but whaled away himself.

British Tennis Board Adopts Amateur Rules

LONDON, Jan. 13.—With the object of keeping the game clean and free from any taint of professionalism the British Lawn Tennis Association has decided that the writing of reports for the press by a player is a breach of amateur status.

It also decided to forbid players accepting payments for lecturing or giving radio talks on the game, or even permitting a name to be mentioned as interviewed for newspaper publication. No decision was reached on the question of lecturing for payment. This matter will be raised at a later meeting.

These decisions will go to the International Lawn Tennis Association for ratification. Until this occurs they are only in the nature of pious resolutions.

One decision will, however, have instant effect. This bars a professional at any other sport playing as an amateur at lawn tennis.

Cobb And Speaker Trail Judge Landis

Accused Players Believe Landis' Action In Giving Other Stars A Chance To Prove Their Innocence Will Act As A Stimulus In Their Case; Landis Has Not Closed Door to Cobb And Speaker, Who Would Welcome Chance To Face "Dutch" Leonard, Who Charged That He Was One Of Several Who Participated In Betting Coup In 1919

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—There was a vague yet conscious promise today of possible developments in the scandal of Cobb and Speaker versus organized—or disorganized—baseball, hard upon Judge Landis' verdict of acquittal for Eddie Collins, Schalk, Bush, Rowland, Dauss, Ehmke and other defendants charged by "Swede" Risberg with being accessories to a "Barney" in September, 1917.

Some undercurrent of activity in the Cobb-Speaker matter is eddying round the judge's headquarters in Chicago but the official policy seems to call for neither admission nor denial.

The judge, usually frank with newspapermen, was evasive when I asked him whether he would receive Cobb and Speaker in the event that they attempted to reopen their case.

Ready for All Comers.

"I have reasons of my own for not saying what course I would take in that event," was his reply. "Just say that anybody can see me any time."

That Cobb and Speaker, having bided their time while awaiting the Risberg verdict, have been in communication with Landis, either personally or through their attorneys, seems to be pretty well understood in certain well informed circles in Chicago. That the accused but neither convicted nor exonerated stars will try to force Landis' hand, appears to be equally probable.

Point Out Precedent.

They may take the Risberg verdict, with its refusal to accept the word of self-implicated "fixers" as having established a precedent and demand that Landis render a decision in their case. It was because of the deposition of "Dutch" Leonard, who freely admitted his part in the alleged conspiracy, that Cobb and Speaker became involved in charges of engaging in a betting coup late in the season of 1919.

However, the judge was smart enough not to commit himself either one way or the other on Leonard's charges; therefore, it can't very well be said that he took anybody's word for anything. It will be the policy of Cobb and Speaker, in consequence, to attempt the forcing of an admission of guilt or innocence and, if the former be the verdict, to tak the matter into court.

May Not Pass Judgment.

Indications are, however, that Landis will decline to pass judgment on the case, in which event the courts again will be the choice of the accused stars. They will contend that their names have been maligned and that baseball has left them without the benefit of an official ruling.

A possible factor in Cobb's defense clearly was established by his telegram to Landis, which gained a denial from all witnesses at the Risberg hearing that they ever had known of Cobb being other than an exemplary ball player. John McGraw's rather damaging admission that he had been told to "lay off" when he proposed signing Cobb also may be used as evidence that baseball, while officially refusing to condemn the players, has raised the bars against them.

May Face Leonard.

It may be that another attempt will be made to persuade Leonard to come on from California to testify, thus re-opening the case automatically. Or it may be that the Mountain, having refused to come to Mohammed, Mohammed will go to the Mountant.

In other words, Landis may give the three defendants—Cobb, Speaker and Joe Wood—a chance to face Leonard at Fresno and engage in a final showdown. Even if the judge doesn't offer to pay expenses, I can't see how that would be any great amount under the circumstances. If the choice was left to me, I'd rather lose good money than a good name.

Rick-Overland Girls Defeat Salem Quintet

The Rick-Overland girls team defeated the Salem Ohio Grate-Overlands by a score of 12 to 5, in a game played last night on the Y. M. C. A. court. The game was a preliminary to the Butler-East Side Merchants game.

The Salem team is given a high rating in Eastern Ohio circles and the locals feel justly proud of their victory over a team of the caliber of the Grate-Overlands.

The playing of Miss Edith Hamilton and Miss Elizabeth Hopkins featured for the locals.

Peace Reigns In Mid-Atlantic Loop

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Peace reigned in the ranks of the Middle Atlantic baseball league here today after three years of hectic bickerings, with the re-election of Elmer M. Dailey to the presidency of the circuit, and admission of Charleroi as a member, the latter to take over the holdings of the Uniontown club.

Owners and representatives of all nine clubs interested attended yesterday's meeting, at which several matters of policy and routine were disposed of in addition to consideration of the status of Uniontown. Acceptance of Charleroi as a new member settled the matter.

Representatives of Charleroi, Jeannette, Scottdale, Cumberland, Fairmont, Johnstown, Wheeling, Uniontown and Clarksburg were present.

Players Prepare For 1927 Season

"Nothing New In Charges Or Exoneration Ban", Johnson Says

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 13. — Here is what five local baseball men, concerned in the latest scandal, had to say regarding the decision of Commissioner Landis exonerating all those involved:

BAN JOHNSON, president of the American League—"It's simply a revival of the case tried by Judge Landis six years ago. The same men were given a clean bill. There was nothing new, either in the charges or the exoneration."

CHARLES COMISKEY, owner of the White Sox—"I do not see how it would have been possible for the commissioner to have done otherwise."

RAY SCHALK, manager of the White Sox and one of the accused —"That's just the way I knew it would finish. Now we will get ready for the battles on the ball field."

EDDIE COLLINS, also accused —"There never was any question in my mind as to what the decision would be. I am glad it is settled. Now I can get in shape for the coming season."

CLARENCE ROWLAND, American League umpire, also named in the charges—"I was confident it would end in such a verdict. Those stories told by Risberg and Gandil were lies. Judge Landis knew it."

Pal Kansas Back On Job Again At New Wilmington

Pal Kansas, Youngstown boxer, instructor of boxing at Westminster and student, who was recently injured in an automobile accident has returned to New Wilmington and has re-entered school.

Kansas stated today that he is ready now to resume fighting and that he has several first class battles lined up for the next few months.

Boston Plans New Public Golf Links

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Jan. 13.—With the true spirit of the sporting fraternity, golfers from all sections of New England, are offering their moral support of the campaign of followers of the Scotch game for the construction of a public golf course this city.

The home of every known branch of sport from the time of a games inception, Boston has contributed in a credible way to the advancement of athletics. Football, baseball, boxing, basketball or any sport that might be mentioned has developed here with great rapidity.

The one exception to the rule, as regards public maintenance and support of a sport is golf. With but one public golf course under municipal control, and that pitibly overrun by the large numbers who desire to use it, the progress of golf in this vicinity has been confined only to the more wealthy class.

With a bill before the legislature for the construction of a course at Fowl Meadows, Forest Hills, interest in the game has become general. Through golfers from distant parts of the state and other New England states will seldom use the proposed course except in tournaments, they are coming to the support of the issue with a rush.

From Hartford, Conn., D. S. MacCallum, secretary of the New England Public Golf Association has sent his endorsement of the proposed course. A game for all and one of especial benefit to the growing child is the expression of Secretary MacCallum. Learning that the present public course in Boston, that at Franklin Park, is not accessible to children he urges the new course with permission for children to use it.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

The reinstatement of Germany as a member of the International Lawn Tennis Association is of more than passing interest and significance to the sport world.

The move not only erases one more vestige of the war, but it presages a more interesting season in international net play for the simple reason that it places a formidable contender for Davis Cup honors in the field.

Germany was in the Davis Cup play before the war — fourteen years ago—and had begun to loom as a formidable factor when the world conflict ended international play.

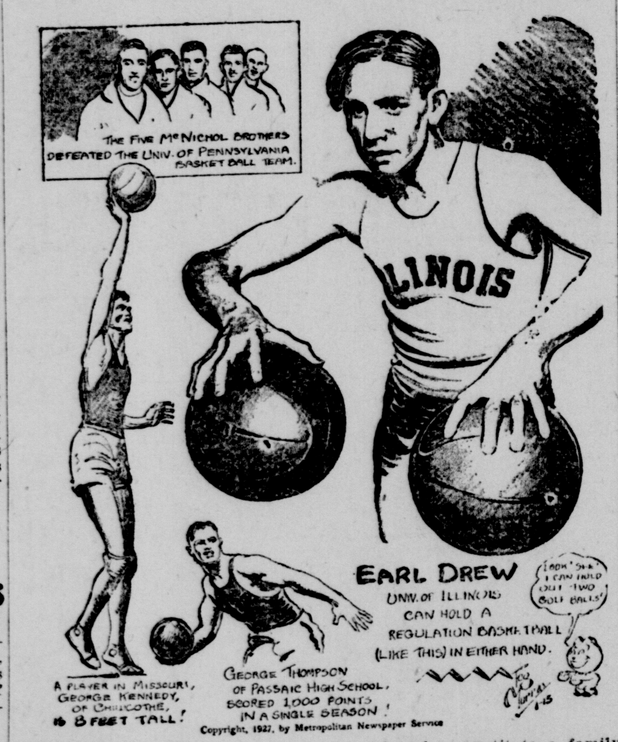

The last appearance in this country of a German challenge team was in the early days of 1914, when Otto Krenzer and Otto Fraitzheim came to the U. S. to engage in the elimination matches. They met the Australian team at Pittsburgh that year. Unfortunately for the Germans the Antipodean team included Norman Brookes and Wilding, two of the old masters of the game. The Berlin pair were trounced in five sets by the two wizards, but the sting of this defeat was lessened in a measure when the same couple defeated America in the challenge round.

Little was heard from the German tennis courts until last summer, when Howard Kinsey and Vincent Richards invaded that country and were as startled as the rest of the tennis world when Dr. Heinz Landmann defeated both of them in handy fashion.

Landmann, of course, will be included in the Davis Cup team that will represent Germany when the elimination matches get under way. Germany's play in the European zone games will give some indication of its real strength.

Good news it is that Detroit will be back in the Grand Circuit this year.

Queer Court Facts — By Feg Murray

Last week I drew some freak baseball shots. Here are some more oddities of the court game for your inspection, the oddest of all being Mr. George Kennedy of Chillicothe, Mo., who is the "tall man" of a carnival company during the summer and a basketball star with a business college five during the winter. George is just eight feet from the top of his head to the soles of his feet, as the crow flies.

Next consider the brothers McNichol, of basketball fame at the University of Pennsylvania. In 1923 five of this remarkable family defeated the Penn varsity in a basketball game, 23 to 19. Seven sons of the late Senator James P. McNichol went to Penn, and five of them, Eddie, Jimmie, Harry, Danny and Johnny, starred on the basketball courts. In the game against the Red and Blue Johnny caged 15 out of 18 free throws, and Eddie, who is the coach at Penn, once set a record by shooting 22 consecutive foul goals. The McNichols are not the only ones to boast of a complete basketball team in the family. There are the Cunninghams of Wahoo, Neb., for instance, and the Hueys of Louisville, Kas. The prize goes to the latter clan, for there is a substitute of tender years for the brothers' five, and six sisters, who also constitute a family team.

Next comes Mr. Earl Drew of the university made famous by Harold Grange and Harold Osborn. Earl has hands like the proverbial hams, and can hold a regulation basketball from the top, with either mitt. He, too, has company in his ability to thus defy the laws of gravity, for Lloyd Sneeze of Montmorency, Ind., boasts of a hand span of 10 5-8 inches. E. Blankenbecler of Kansas and "Horse" Gillium of New Castle, Pa., can do the same stunt.

Last, but not least, is George Thompson of Passaic High school, New Jersey, who once scored 1,000 points in a single season. George played on the famous team which won 159 consecutive victories from March, 1919, to February, 1925. During that time the "Wonder Five" ran up 9,435 points to its opponents' 3,236. In the 1921-22 season, the one in which Thompson scored his "grand", Passaic beat Williams Prep, 145 to 5, George getting 69 points in that one game!

College Reserves Defeat Lincolns In Fast Battle

Industrial League Team Outclassed By Westminster Team 21 to 14

The Lincoln Five journeyed to New Wilmington on Wednesday night and took a lacing at the hands of the Westminster College Reserve team. The final score was 21 to 14.

The locals jumped into an early lead but were unable to stand the fast pace set by the college boys and trailed at the first half 13 to 8. The Lincolns were not used to the straight half playing and were rather winded when the first two periods had passed.

The Reserves with R. Thomas and McQuiston leading the way soon gained a comfortable lead in the third and fourth sessions.

So close a guarding game did the Resrves play that the Lincolns were held to but two field goals a most unusual happening for the local five. It is doubtless if any other team in the history of the Lincolns has held them down in such a fashion. Nocera and Jones were the only local boys able to tally against the Collegians.

The lineup and summary:

Reserves—21.		Lincolns—14.
Brown	F	Nocera
R. Thomas	F	Cuba
Stewart	C	Uhle
McQuiston	G	Jones
McCullough	G	Baptiste

Subs: Reserves, Hartwell, Penberthy, Gibson, W. Lewis, Phillips, McClintock: Lincolns, Marlacher, VanFossan.

Field goals: Brown, R. Thomas 2, Penberthy, Gibson, Phillips, W. Lewis, Nocera, Jones.

Fouls: Reserves 7 out of 13. Lincolns 10 out of 21.

Referee, Cougley.
Umpire, Thomas.

Secure Over $2500 For Maintenance Of Wards Of City

Davies And Former Poor Director Collect Sums Due City From Relatives Of Dependents

During the past year the city has netted $2,500 for the maintenance of persons now in various institutions through the efforts of Councilman D. O. Davies and former director of city charity, Wm. D. Williams, Sr.

Davies explained today that when some patients were given over to the care of the city it was necessary that they be sent to institutions.

In some cases their relatives apparently forgot that a charge had to be made and failed to respond to bills. Davies and Williams kept after the relatives and have secured $2,500.

Since the abolition of the New Castle district of the poor the county commissioners have taken control of the situation. However, "back monies" due the city, will like the $2,500 be turned over to the general revenue fund.

Bell Telephone Company Will Expend $56,000

Extensions To Service To Be Made In New Castle

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania will spend $56,000 on the construction of additional telephone equipment in New Castle, T. J. Harper, District Manager here for the company made known today. Work on one of the jobs has been started, and work will be started in the near future on the other one, he said.

Additional facilities for the northern section of the city were completed this year at a cost of $52,000, Mr. Harper continued. The expenditure of $56,000 will go to provide more facilities in the west, south and northeast sections.

The cables will be built from the exchange, one to go to the south section of the city and the other to the west. These will cost $39,000, and will care for the telephone requirements of those areas for some time to come. Mr. Harper explained that although the facilities are not needed today, they will be needed by the time it is completed. Consequently, the telephone company is building now in expectation of what will be necessary in the future. The cables will be laid underground for the most part.

The cable which is to be built for service to the northeast section will be started shortly, and will be completed about the same time that the others are finished. It will cost $17,000 and will make more facilities available for the northeast and business sections of the city. The majority of this cable will be laid underground, also.

Some explanation of the purpose in building more telephone plant before the actual need arises was given by Mr. Harper. "If we were to wait until telephone users were actually in need of service," he said, "we could not possibly build our plant quickly enough. The time it takes to plan out the routes for the cables, have them manufactured, and then put in place prohibits any other procedure than that which we have adopted. Experts in forecasting telephone requirements study out in advance what the needs of a community will be. We build our plant according to these forecasted estimates, and then as the needs for the service arise, we have the facilities ready to supply it.

"If we waited until actually getting requests for service before we started to put up our plant we would be in 'hot water' most of the time. Communities would have to wait months for service which they were badly in need of, and the telephone company would come in for a lot of criticism. Yet scarcely anyone thinks about our having to plan for the future. We build lines where there seems at the time to be no need for them. The lines are quickly placed in service, however, and this is simply evidence of the science of forecasting growth as practiced by our engineers."

PROBE REPORT MAN ROBBED

Police Discover Unusual Circumstances In Cascade Street Section

Police received a call from Cascade street last night about eleven o'clock to the effect that there had been a horse and sleigh running loose in that district and that a man had caught the horse. Officers Thompson and Lockard went out and secured the horse and placed it in the barn of the Opera House Transfer company.

A short time later, the owner, John Tervo of Butler road, came to the police making inquiry concerning his horse and sleigh and told an interesting tale of being in a certain place on Cascade street and that they had stolen a considerable amount of money and valuable papers contained in a suitcase after he had bought some liquor. In one instance, he is said to have intimated that there was $2,000 in the suitcase.

Lieutenant Harper, and Officers Moore, M. J. Young and Ellison went to the place mentioned by Tervo and found some homebrew. The woman denied that she had sold liquor and also that she had taken the men's money and was not arrested.

Tervo on leaving for home said he would be in this morning and make an information against the people. He had not appeared as yet early this afternoon and his horse and sleigh, which he did not take with him are still in the Opera House Transfer company barn.

Do Rent Receipts Keep You From Owning A Home Of Your Own

Why pay rent when you buy a home on easy terms from the houses advertised for sale in our Real Estate Column. There you will find houses of all sizes and descriptions, in every part of the city, and you will find dealers who will make the terms to suit your individual financial condition.

If you are working for a moderate salary, tell your problems to the Realtor and he will help you to convert the rent you are paying into a home of your own. A few years of paying rent will buy a house. It has been estimated that a person who rents 30 years pays for at least six houses. Pay for your own house and then buy another that some one will pay you for in rent.

The Realtor will tell you how.

Repulse Of Foote's Gunboats.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

LATE IN THE EVENING OF FEB. 13, 1862, THE UNION FORCES BESIEGING FORT DONELSON ON THE CUMBERLAND RIVER WERE INCREASED BY THE ARRIVAL OF COMMANDER FOOTE WITH GUNBOATS AND TRANSPORTS CARRYING 10,000 SOLDIERS UNDER GEN. LEW WALLACE. THE FOLLOWING AFTERNOON THE GUNBOAT FLOTILLA STEAMED UP THE RIVER TO BOMBARD THE CONFEDERATE BATTERIES.

THE GUNBOATS ADVANCED TO WITHIN 300 YARDS OF THE FORT BEFORE OPENING FIRE, ALTHOUGH HEAVILY SHELLED BY THE CONFEDERATE GUNS. THE IRONCLADS THEN RESPONDED WITH SUCH A HOT FIRE THAT THE GUNNERS ASHORE BEGAN LEAVING THEIR EMPLACEMENTS. FOOTE'S PLAN WAS TO RUN PAST THE BATTERIES TO A POINT UPSTREAM FROM WHENCE HE COULD ENFILADE THEM WITH HIS BROADSIDES.

WHEN THE CHANCE CAME TO MAKE THIS DARING MANEUVER, TWO OF THE IRONCLADS (THE "ST. LOUIS" AND "LOUISVILLE") HAD BEEN CRIPPLED AND WERE DRIFTING HELPLESSLY IN THE WAY OF THE OTHERS. SEEING THE PLIGHT OF THE FLOTILLA, THE CONFEDERATE GUNNERS RETURNED TO THEIR BATTERIES AND RENEWED THEIR FIRE WITH TELLING EFFECT.

FOOTE, WHO HAD BEEN WOUNDED, GAVE THE ORDER TO RETREAT AND THE BATTERED GUNBOATS MADE OFF DOWNSTREAM. IN THIS ENGAGEMENT THE FLEET LOST 54 MEN KILLED AND WOUNDED, WHILE FOUR OF THE VESSELS WERE COMPELLED TO RETURN TO CAIRO FOR REPAIRS.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. — A moderate spurt in prices of railroad and dividend industrial stocks in early trading today was hailed as the evidence of an influx of investment buying. Meanwhile, the professionals have been gradually stirring up speculative interest in the oil stocks, which advanced in good form under the lead of Standard of New Jersey and a few of the well-known independents.

A 3 per cent gain in the mill operations of the U. S. Steel Corporation helped to stiffen the market for the "Big Steel" stock, while Republic Iron and Steel continued the move which started on Monday, moving up to a new high at 62. Anaconda, Kennecott and other copper stocks were in good demand at fractionally higher prices.

Standard Oil of New Jersey showed unusual strength in moving up about a point to 39¼ in the first hour in a huge volume of trading. Rights for the purchase of the new stock at $25 a share expire this week. Marland sold above 58, while Pure Oil, Simms, California Pete and Texas Company were active and firm.

Lehigh Valley led the rails with its new advance to 106 on "inside buying." Atchison, Rock Island and New York Central sold fractionally higher. Motor stocks were inactive but firm, specialties steady.

Mule Holds Up Crossing Traffic

Traffic at the West Side grade crossing of the P. & L. E. was held up for at least ten minutes this morning, while the foot of a mule of a local concern, was extracted from an opening alongside the rail of the crossing, where it had slipped and from which the animal was unable to extradite it. It was necessary to get a jack with which to spread the rail so that the animal could be released. Dozens of automobiles and some street cars were held up until the animal could be released.

Settle Suit Of Count Salm

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Count Ludwig Salm's suit for separation from the former Millicent Rogers, heiress to the $40,000,000 Standard Oil fortune of her father, Colonel H. H. Rogers, has been settled out of court, it was reported today.

By the terms of the settlement the Austrian nobleman will receive $325,000 from his wife's father, it was reliably stated. The payment of this sum was said to be in abatement of the count's projected suits against Colonel and Mrs. Rogers for alleged alienation of his wife's affections.

The count's suit for separation will be dropped forever, the reports said, but a quiet divorce suit in Paris was forecast for the countess.

Telephone Girl May Testify In "Peaches" Suit

(International News Service)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 13.—"Peaches" Browning lost a point in her legal battle for separation from her millionaire husband, Edward W. Browning, today when Supreme Court Justice Frank L. Young ruled that Anna Olsen, a telephone operator, might be examined before the Browning trial regarding conversations she is alleged to have heard. Miss Olsen was the operator at Kew Gardens Inn where the Brownings spent their honeymoon.

According to the Browning attorneys, Anna's testimony will prove that "Peaches" and her mother planned to effect the marriage to the millionaire only for the purpose of "material gain" and that they contemplated instituting divorce proceedings as soon as they had "got enough".

Asks For Opinion On Pay Status Of Extra Firemen

Councilman D. O. Davies has requested City Solicitor Robert White to furnish council with an opinion in regard to the delay in paying Dan McDaniels and Andrew Perry, hired in December as "emergency firemen at a rate of $25 a month.

Councilman Burns and Controller Porter refused to honor the vonchers, claiming that a technicality stood on the way of payment legally, as no persons were reported ill, places absent and that the ordinance provided for only a certain number of firemen.

Recently two firemen were forced to temporarily forsake their duties and council employed two extra firemen.

Fire Chief Lynn in asking in December for two extra men said the rate of pay would be sufficient to keep the two men at the fire house so they could be available as it is necessary during the winter period to have extra men.

It is understood that Chief Lynn himself, has paid the men although Councilman Davies offered to do so. As soon as White's opinion is handed down and if found satisfactory the money will probably be paid, as it is said Burns and Porter have no personal interest in the matter.

What was Cinderella's last name?

WHEN the Brothers Grimm wrote their immortal fairy tales, they didn't tell us Cinderella's last name. But Cinderella's last name must have been Electricity.

For, like Cinderella, electricity in the home does the housework all day long, and at night shines forth in dazzling splendor, filling the rooms with brilliant light.

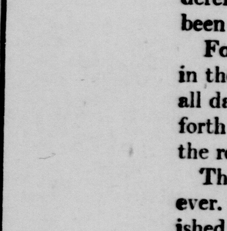

There's one difference, however. The radiant Cinderella vanished at midnight, while electricity works on steadily, always at your beck and call. For that you can thank your electric power and light company, on the job night and day to make a fairy tale come true.

Furthermore, Electric Service is the cheapest thing coming into the home today.

Plan To Exonerate Guard For Killing Of Fleeing Prisoner

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O, Jan. 13.—Exoneration for the guard who shot and killed Private John B. Kearns, 25, Philadelphia, is expected today after an investigation by Captain R. E. Jones, adjutant at Fort Hayes.

Kearns, an alleged deserter held in the guard house here awaiting court martial, the adjutant reported, sawed his way from his cell and was making a dash for nearby railroad yards when ordered to halt. He failed to comply and the guard shot. Kearns died an hour after in the post hospital with a bullet wound in his head.

Records at the post disclose that Kearns deserted from the army signal school, Brooklyn, and was captured January 3 at Pittsburgh. He was brought to the Columbus post January 4.

REV. GEORGE BURKE AT SERVICES IN FREE METHODIST

Rev. George Burke of Coudersport, Pa., former pastor of the Dewey avenue Free Methodist church of this city was the speaker at the services Wednesday evening in the Arlington avenue Free Methodist church.

An excellent spirit prevailed throughout the entire service. Rev. Burke spoke pointedly from the text "But ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon You." He said "The text has to do with dynamite and that the church should be quickened, made alive and empowered and must be energized if it meets God's requirements.

Rev. Burke will preach again this evening. Special music is an added inspiration at every service.
